Split Reported In South Korea's New Government

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A split was reported in South Korea's new military government today over the division of power among the military services.

A competent source said marines and paratroopers who took over Seoul last Tuesday and were the shock troops of the coup refused an order Saturday to withdraw from the Capitol building and return to their camps outside Seoul.

The marines and paratroopers reportedly demanded more places on the 30-member revolutionary council, which except for a marine brigadier general and colonel consists entirely of army officers. There is also a marine colonel in the cabinet of 15 officers that was sworn in Sunday.

U. S. Gen. Carter B. Magruder, under whose U. N. command all South Korean forces are placed, reportedly demanded Saturday that all the 3,600 troops used in the coup return to their original stations.

Order to Move Out

The order to move out was issued by Lt. Gen. Chang Do-young, the junta chief who also is premier, defense minister and army chief of staff.

Although the marines and paratroopers furnished the troops for the coup, the composition of the revolutionary council and the cabinet reflected the relative strength of South Korea's armed forces. Unofficial estimates put the army at 500,000 men, including 3,000 paratroopers, the marines and air force at 15,000 each and the navy 10,000.

Despite the reported rift, the new military regime pressed ahead vigorously.

Foreign Minister Kim Hong-il, a retired lieutenant general, said Gen. Chang sent a letter to Pres. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Dutchess May Be Linked to Other Voting District

According to Dutchess County Republican Committee Chairman Robert J. Blinn there is a "good chance" Dutchess County, which has been grouped with Ulster, Columbia, Greene and Schoharie counties for nearly 20 years as the 29th Congressional District, may be grouped with Putnam and Orange counties when the legislature meets late this year to reapportion seats in the House.

This shuffle, Blinn said, could come about as a result of the merging of Albany and Schenectady districts, and the reassignment of their bordering counties. Schoharie borders both Schenectady and Albany, while Greene County borders Albany County. Since the Democratic candidate Gore Vidal last fall dug deeply into the usually heavy Republican vote in Dutchess County, former Dutchess County G.O.P. Chairman Aspbury has hinted he might try to promote a Dutchess County man for Congress in 1962. In commenting on the thought of a Dutchess County candidate, should Dutchess County remain in the 29th Congressional District, Chairman Blinn said it was "too early to make plans" and suggested waiting to see what the legislature does before opposing Congressman J. Ernest Wharton.

BULLETIN

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro is prepared to exchange political prisoners in Cuba for what he calls political prisoners in the United States and Central America, Havana radio said today.

Castro also reportedly threatened to call off the bulldozers-for-prisoners negotiations if the United States "persists in referring to it as an exchange."

"This is an indemnification and not an exchange," he reportedly told Prensa Latina, the Cuban news agency.

Meeting Arranged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cuban rebels arranged a meeting with their American benefactors today to discuss Fidel Castro's ransom terms for 1,214 men captured in the Cuban invasion failure.

Eleanor Roosevelt, Dr. Milton Eisenhower and union leader Walter Reuther head a drive to raise millions of dollars to purchase 500 American tractors or bulldozers demanded by the Cuban prime minister in exchange for the prisoners.

Mrs. Roosevelt is the widow of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt; Dr. Eisenhower is president of Johns Hopkins University and brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower; Reuther is president of the United Automobile Workers Union.

To Meet in Afternoon

They were scheduled to meet this afternoon with 10 representatives of the prisoners; Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, chairman of the Revolutionary Council, and council member Antonio de Varona. The 10 representatives were paroled by the Cuban government to work out arrangements to free them and their companions.

The sons of both Miro Cardona and de Varona are among the prisoners held by Castro.

The State Department had said Saturday the government would give "most sympathetic consideration" to granting export licenses if the tractors are purchased by private funds.

The United States has broken diplomatic relations with Cuba and exports of machinery to Cuba normally are not permitted. Although Reuther said no funds would be accepted or solicited until after today's meeting, donations and offers of money poured in.

Robert Berrellez, Associated Press correspondent just returned from imprisonment in Cuba, said the offer was "another propaganda trick. It's a form of political blackmail."

Castro ran into sharp criticism from the press in Latin America and scattered Latin American organizations began fund raising drives to help buy the tractors.

Federal Aid to Education Will Be Pushed This Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate resumes debate today on President Kennedy's federal aid to education bill with leaders pushing for passage by mid-week. This promises to be the major action on the President's program in Congress this week.

However, Senate leaders also hoped to put through the $4.96 billion housing bill approved by the Banking Committee last week. This carries out all of Kennedy's recommendations in the field.

Both the housing and school aid bills are on the "big five" list discussed by the President before he took office.

Two of these, depressed areas and minimum wage, already have been signed by Kennedy. The fifth

IRVING REUBEN

Commissioner Is Named for Post On Water Board

Appointment of Irving Reuben, of 246 East Chester Street, to the water board, was announced today by Mayor Edwin F. Radel.

The new commissioner is to succeed Benjamin Schecter, of 199 Downs Street, who has served 12 years on the board and had been its president. The appointment is for five years, and becomes effective May 31.

Born in Leeds, England, the new commissioner, has been a Kingston resident for more than 50 years. He came here when he was six years old. He is married to the former Tillie Alcon and they have two children, Marc, 25, an accountant with Alfred D. Ronder & Company, and Barbara, 16, a Kingston High School student.

An office manager and head bookkeeper at the Levine Bros. Bag Co., he has served Congressional Assembly Israel as its financial secretary for the past 14 years.

Red Spy Setup

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says the Communists speak of peace but "their intelligence setu pis the most extensive in world history." Hoover told a House Appropriations subcommittee in testimony released Saturday that Communist bloc nations have 300,000 agents searching out the secrets of the rest of the world.

In many cases, Hoover said, the spies have their job made easier by a wide-open information setup in the United States.

A health care plan for the aged under the Social Security System, may go over until 1962.

Both House and Senate are stepping up their hours in session and their committee schedules with the fifth month of the 1961 session almost over.

However, it appears that the Aug. 1 adjournment goal set by congressional leaders will be exceedingly hard to meet.

Much legislation remains. The appropriations bills especially are far behind schedule. Not a single one for fiscal 1962 starting July 1 has cleared the Senate and only three have passed the House out of the 12 to 14 that must be considered. The House has a minor one, carrying funds to run Congress.

Hate Bus Is Sent To South

Communism, Race Mixing Targets

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—The American Nazi party sent a "hate bus" South today in a protest against communism and race mixing.

George Lincoln Rockwell, the party head, said eight of his followers were aboard the bus and four others in a command car en route to New Orleans to picket the premier of the movie "Exodus" and the New Orleans office of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The group asked federal protection from "Jew and Negro hoodlums."

Gives Route

The private bus bore signs identifying it as "Lincoln Rockwell's Hate Bus" and proclaiming "We do hate communism and race mixing."

Rockwell said the bus would pass through Richmond, Va., Raleigh, Charlotte and Greenville N.C., Atlanta, Ga., Birmingham, Montgomery and Mobile, Ala., and Poplarville, Miss. He said John Patler of New York City, in charge of the trip, would speak in public parks in Charlotte, Atlanta, Montgomery and Mobile. Otherwise, he said, the vehicles will stop only for gasoline until reaching New Orleans Tuesday night.

To Join Delegation

Rockwell plans to fly to New Orleans Tuesday to join the delegation.

The American Nazi party recently was granted a charter by the State of Virginia. The organization's goals, as stated in the charter, include "the gaining of political power in the United States by all legal means and elective processes" and "the education of the American public to suppressed facts concerning the Communist conspiracy to destroy us and the white race."

Controls Issue May Be Theme

By DORIAN FALK

GENEVA (AP)—The perennial dispute between the West and the Soviet Union on the issue of controls to enforce international agreements is expected to throw its long shadow over the meeting between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev.

Western diplomats in Geneva feel that this stumbling block of virtually all East-West negotiations since World War II may well be a central theme of the Kennedy-Khrushchev talks in Vienna next month.

The Western idea that in the absence of mutual confidence, East and West must provide for safeguards to prevent violations of agreements, has dominated all attempts to end the cold war.

The issue of controls has prevented progress in 13 years of disarmament negotiations. It has slowed down the three-power test ban talks here. It cropped up again at the start of the conference on Laos.

The West feels the policing of any agreement between the two camps is vital to Western security. Communist leaders contend that the Western governments will use international control machinery as a front for legalized spying on the Communist countries.

Arthur H. Dean, the U.S. delegate to the three-power nuclear test ban talks, returned to Washington Sunday to report to President Kennedy on the Soviet intransigence on the matter of test ban controls.

Before his departure Dean once again criticized the new Soviet demand for a veto over the day-to-day operation of the proposed test ban control system.

In Vienna, Western diplomats believe, Kennedy will seek a clear answer from Premier Khrushchev on the issue of international control and inspection. They expect the President to sound out Khrushchev on whether there is any chance the Kremlin will ever agree to the Western concept of veto-free controls.

More Births Less Deaths In NY State

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The birth rate increased in New York State during the first quarter of 1961 and the death rate was the lowest in four years, the State Health Department said today.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner, said there were 89,241 births during the first three months of this year. The record high for the quarter occurred in 1959, when 89,305 births were registered.

The birth rate for the 1961 first quarter was 21.2 per 1,000 population, compared with 20.8 in the first three months of 1960.

The death rate in the state during the first quarter of this year was 11.1. There were 46,737 deaths, compared with 47,555 in 1960. The infant mortality rate, 24.1, was the lowest for a first quarter since 1956.

Catholic Veterans Elect Officers, Vote Resolutions

The new state commander of the Catholic War Veterans is Francis X. McBarron of Brooklyn who served as first vice commander last year.

A World War II lieutenant, who entered the army as a private, was elected Saturday at the 26th annual convention of the Department of New York, CWV, held at the Governor Clinton Hotel for three days starting Friday.

Election was also held by the Department Ladies' Auxiliary and Mrs. Elsie Krebs of Queens County was chosen to again serve as president of the state organization.

Write to Legislators

Highlight of the convention was Saturday night's dinner at which Frank Votto, director of New York's State Veterans Affairs, stressed the importance of veterans writing to legislators on matters of government calling for their votes, pro or con.

Immediate past commander of the CWV is Augustus J. Poletto of Albany County.

During the Saturday session various resolutions were passed as follows:

Approving dismissal of civil service employees found to be members of the Communist movement or any other subversive organization.

Supporting the Senate Bill S300 providing for denial of passport to supporters of the International Communist movement, also for review of passports demands and other related purposes.

Memorial Day Program Listed By Esopus Legion

The 16th annual Memorial Day program conducted by Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion to be held 10 a. m. May 30 at Riverview Cemetery, was announced today by C. Kenneth Bonville, vice commander and chairman of the event. Attorney Richard W. Griggs of Port Ewen will be the guest speaker.

Edgar M. Maurer will be grand marshal of the parade. Dr. H. Z. Rappaport, rabbi of Agudas Achim Congregation will take up the issue at a special session in the fall.

Republicans reportedly are considering merging the 30th district, represented by Democrat Leo W. O'Brien of Albany, and the 32nd district, represented by Democrat Samuel S. Stratton.

Morhouse said in his statement that the "shrill Democratic cries of 'gerrymander' should be recognized for what they are—hollow political attacks to conceal the absence of any constructive contribution to the task of realigning the districts."

Meanwhile, Stratton, who angrily protested the Republican plans, and who is mentioned as a possible contender for the Democratic nomination for governor, turned his sights Saturday on Gov. Rockefeller.

While Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., was telling the state Young Republican Clubs that Rockefeller would win by more than the 370,000-vote plurality the GOP government gained in 1958, Stratton was telling Democrats Rockefeller could be beaten.

Martial Rule Is Declared

1,000 Negroes Are Kept in Church

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—This historic city was quiet but tense today—a sharp contrast to bloody racial rioting which brought martial rule.

Armed National Guardsmen patrolled the Greyhound bus station and a Negro church where Sunday night's main outbreak of violence took place. Others patrolled the downtown sector and its fringes in jeeps.

Federal deputies sent in over the weekend also were seen on the streets.

City and county officers arrested 18 white persons after the disturbance.

Try to Burn Houses

Sporadic outbursts of trouble, including two houses burning at night, had continued for hours after steel-helmeted soldiers with fixed bayonets took command.

An estimated 1,000 Negro worshippers returned home quietly in the predawn hours after spending most of the night in a church auditorium in protective custody. A mob had tried to get at them, but by 5 a. m. the church area was deserted except for 25 National Guardsmen left on guard duty.

Think Trouble Over

"We don't anticipate any further trouble here," said a National Guard officer.

Among the churchgoers were 18 of the freedom bus riders whose arrival in Montgomery Saturday touched off repeated attacks by club-swinging white men and women. The so-called "freedom riders" were testing Alabama's bus segregation laws.

Only Negroes remained in the bus-riding group after the lone white man among them was savagely beaten and sent to a hospital and two white girls, also mauled by the surging mob Saturday morning, were sent home by train.

20 Are Clubbed

In all, some 20 victims were clubbed and smashed to the ground with fists in two hours of rioting near the Greyhound bus station.

After 18 hours of a jittery quiet, another screaming, brick-throwing mob struck Sunday night against the Negroes jam-packed into a church to greet the "freedom riders" and hear the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. condemn the city for what he called Hitler-like barbarism.

It was the Sunday night uprising which provoked Gov. John M. Patterson to proclaim "qualified martial rule" and give troops under Adj. Gen. Henry V. Graham sweeping powers to take whatever action necessary to restore order.

Reapportionment Among Many Issues Discussed by Leaders Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Reapportionment, next year's gubernatorial election, this year's New York mayoral election and President Kennedy's leadership were controversial issues included in a weekend of politics reminiscent of mid-season campaigning.

Democratic and Republican leaders hurled charges and counter-charges in speeches and statements to news media.

Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse, in a statement Sunday on reapportionment of the state's congressional districts, promised the people "a fair voice" and "sufficient time" to consider the plan.

New York City, which showed a population loss of 1.4 per cent, probably would lose three seats in the reapportionment, and the fourth seat would come from the Upstate area, Morhouse said.

The reapportionment of the state's congressional delegation, which means a reduction from 43 to 41 members, is a result of the 1960 federal census. The Republican-controlled Legislature will take up the issue at a special session in the fall.

Republicans reportedly are considering merging the 30th district, represented by Democrat Leo W. O'Brien of Albany, and the 32nd district, represented by Democrat Samuel S. Stratton.

Threatens to Jail Them
In a tense, face-to-face meeting with Kennedy's top assistant, Byron R. White, the state's chief executive threatened to jail federal officers who sought to exert their authority in the absence of a request for federal help.

Patterson in his proclamation of martial law still insisted that the self-styled "freedom riders"—he called them "agitators"—were to blame for the race rioting because of their insistence on testing bus station racial barriers.

But, he decreed, "there now exists... a serious emergency, a defiance of the constitution and laws of Alabama, a state of lawlessness... which the local officers are unable to subdue."

Despite angry federal-state bickering earlier in the day, U.S. officers worked alongside city and state police and the battle-trained guardsmen after Patterson ordered out the troops.

Even the bus riders won a reprieve from the threat of arrest on charges of violating a state court injunction which had sought to stop them from riding a bus here from Birmingham.

Assumes Sheriff's Duties
Sheriff's deputies holding court on charges of violating a state court injunction which had sought to stop them from riding a bus here from Birmingham.

Gen. Graham, entering the Negro church after the National Guardsmen arrived, ordered them there through the night for their protection while troops patrolled the streets.

Outside, scattered pockets of resistance to the law-and-order decree released their pent-up fury. They overturned a parked automobile, tossed a rock at police Commissioner L. B. Sullivan's car, sent police chasing down reports of shots fired at Negro houses.

Fire Bombs Thrown
Fire bombs were thrown at the home of a Negro and a young white restaurant owner who nearly two years ago killed another white man after a wrangle with the Ku Klux Klan. The admitted slayer, who claimed self-defense, was acquitted by a jury.

While the rioting raged at the Negro church, the mob surged past federal marshals and city and state police, tossing rocks and bricks. Several persons were injured, but none seriously.

The main force of the crowd had been blunted by tear gas when National Guardsmen rumbled up in army trucks.

While state authorities held warrants for the arrest of the "freedom riders" on contempt citations, a federal court injunction went into effect over the weekend to protect interstate bus riders from further interference.

ported determined to use any means available—including a move-in of Army regulars if necessary to maintain order in Montgomery.

Alabama Gov. John Patterson has declared martial law in the area.

Kennedy said the new marshals would be immigration service men from across the country who were being deputized.

He added that the marshals would stay in Montgomery "until we receive assurances by action that the situation is under control in the State of Alabama."

He said he hoped the situation would straighten out.

Kennedy also said, in response to a question, that he would think "without any question you would have had a major bloodshed in Montgomery" Sunday night if it hadn't been for the U.S. Marshals there.

He said he had been told that when the trouble started and when a mob started against the church where a Negro mass meeting was taking place, there was only a group of marshals around the church.

He said he talked with Gov. Patterson about that time and also with city officials and told them they better take some action or there would be bloodshed.

Presbyterians Plan to Discuss 4-Church Merger

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer
BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The United Presbyterian Church decided today to open talks for unification with the Episcopal Church, the Methodist and the United Church of Christ.

The historic action was approved with a booming voice vote at the Presbyterian's 173rd General Assembly.

Outcome of the issue had been of keen concern throughout American Protestantism, and also among Roman Catholic leaders.

On the event of the test, a mass ecumenical interdenominational meeting heard an appeal from the Rev. Dr. Robert J. McCracken, of New York City's Riverside church.

"Our unity in essentials is such that we should no longer tolerate purely factious divisions," he said.

Noting that there are 226 separate Protestant religious bodies in this country, he said Christianity can hardly be expected to heal the divisions of the world when the church itself is so lamentably divided.

The historic proposal for church reunion was made last December by the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, of Philadelphia, the Presbyterians' top administrative officer.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is scheduled to make his first speech on his two-week trip to Asia next Thursday, the day after his return to the United States.

Johnson, president of the National Press Club, said Sunday that Johnson had cabled acceptance of an invitation to speak at a club luncheon.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer
BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The United Presbyterian Church decided today to open talks for unification with the Episcopal Church, the Methodist and the United Church of Christ.

The historic action was approved with a booming voice vote at the Presbyterian's 173rd General Assembly.

Outcome of the issue had been of keen concern throughout American Protestantism, and also among Roman Catholic leaders.

On the event of the test, a mass ecumenical interdenominational meeting heard an appeal from the Rev. Dr. Robert J. McCracken, of New York City's Riverside church.

"Our unity in essentials is such that we should no longer tolerate purely factious divisions," he said.

Noting that there are 226 separate Protestant religious bodies in this country, he said Christianity can hardly be expected to heal the divisions of the world when the church itself is so lamentably divided.

The historic proposal for church reunion was made last December by the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, of Philadelphia, the Presbyterians' top administrative officer.

Other denominations, besides the four mentioned, also would be invited to join the negotiations, estimated to take at least 10 years.

More than 45 of the 214 regional Presbyterian units have urged the effort be launched.

Approval by the 34-million-member denomination at the current assembly would leave the next move up to the Episcopal Church, whose legislative convention meets next fall.

Prince Pursues Peacemaker Role

By JOHN BAUSMAN
GENEVA (AP)—Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian chief of state, today pursued the role of peacemaker for Laos and invited the three rival Laotian princes to negotiate in Geneva for a coalition government.

Sihanouk issued the invitations through the separate Laotian delegations sent to the J-1 nation conference that opened last week to pacify and neutralize the strife-plagued country of Southeast Asia.

The three princes involved are Boun Oum, recognized by the West and Laotian King Savang Vathana as premier; Prince Souvanna Phouma, so-called neutralist leader recognized as the legal premier by the Soviet bloc, and Prince Souphanouvong, head of the Communist-directed Pathet Lao forces.

Efforts to get the three Laotian factions to combine into one coalition government were begun several days ago in Laos itself in talks behind the Pathet Lao lines. These negotiations, in the village of Ban Namone, have stalled.

The Cambodian prince and a number of other delegates at the conference regard a coalition government as essential for any long-range settlement of Laotian problems.

The Geneva conference resumes this afternoon amid persistent reports that Boun Oum's government soon might order its delegate in Geneva to join in the parity.

Steering Group To Outline Code
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges has appointed a six-man steering committee to plan a code of ethics for industry.

The other 20 members of the Business Ethics Advisory Council were asked to submit written recommendations on goals and procedures to the steering committee within two weeks.

The council held its first meeting last week after Hodges decided a code was necessary in the aftermath of the guilty plea by 29 electrical manufacturing companies to price-fixing and bid-rigging charges brought by the government.

Among those named to the committee was William D. Decker, board chairman of Corning Glass Works, Corning, N. Y.

The Rev. Mr. Hewitt, treasurer of the board of trustees of the Champlain Conference, Wesleyan Methodist Church, was a director and past president of the New York State Holiness Association.

Accused Burglar To Face Jurors In County Theft

A former employee of the Center Electric Co., Inc., Ellenville, has been arrested in Brooklyn on a charge of burglary third degree involving a break at the appliance firm Saturday night, May 13.

Thomas Neary, 27, of 2527 East 22nd Street, Brooklyn, was picked up Friday night at his apartment. He was returned to Ulster County by Chief Abe Rand of the Ellenville Police Department and Investigator Michael Lisman, BCL.

Neary was arranged before Justice of the Peace Frank Decker, waived examination and was committed to the Ulster County jail to await action of the grand jury.

On the night of May 13 or the early morning of May 14 a small amount of cash was stolen from a restee in the Ellenville electric firm. The burglar also cut open a small steel safe with an acetylene torch but found nothing.

Norman Tennenbaum, one of the owners of the store, discovered the burglary about 8 a. m. Sunday when he arrived at the Center Street firm and noticed that the safe was not in the office. He called the village police department.

An investigation disclosed that some $30 to $35 in cash had been taken from a cash register. The safe, about 30 inches high and 24 wide, was found in a workshop in the back of the building. The door of the steel safe had been cut out by an acetylene torch which was kept in the store by the Tennenbaum brothers.

Entrance to the building was gained by removing a small window under a rear platform. Chief Rand said the entire frame was taken out. The cellar was then entered, the burglar mounting a flight of stairs into the main section of the store.

Chief Rand said there was no money in the safe. Valuable papers were scattered about the workshop but none had apparently been removed.

Resume Efforts To Get Body of Buried Farmer

NAMPA, Idaho (AP)—Rescuers said it would take many more hours today to remove the body of a farmer buried five days ago at the 160-foot level of a 220-foot deep irrigation well near this southwestern Idaho community.

The body of Herbert A. Tiegs, 55, was found Sunday night after workers had dug through 18 feet of rock, sand and debris. Tiegs was buried in a cave-in last Wednesday as he was plastering the inside of the well.

Workers had to remove sand from the well by hand after two attempts to blow it out with compressed air failed. They were forced to use a bent shovel and a gallon can in the two-foot wide hole.

Johnson Returns From Asia Visit

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson flew homeward today after a rigorous six-nation swing through South Asia to reassure America's allies from Formosa to Pakistan that Communist advances can and will be opposed.

Johnson said he came away from Asia "strengthened and encouraged."

"I believe the world will be better tomorrow than it is today," he declared.

After an overnight rest stop in Athens, Johnson and his party were flying today to Bermuda, with a refueling stop en route in the Azores.

In Bermuda, the vice president will wind up his report and recommendations to President Kennedy. He flies to Washington on Wednesday.

Before taking off, Johnson had a 45-minute meeting with Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis. The two leaders exchanged assurances of unity and support in meeting any threat to Greece's freedom.

JFK Keeps Hands Off School Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has reversed his political field and is keeping hands off while the Senate hammers out its version of his federal aid-to-education program.

Confirming this, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today he is confident that before the week is over the Senate will pass in a form satisfactory to Kennedy a $2.5-billion measure to provide grants for public school construction and teachers salaries.

Previously Kennedy has been active personally in soliciting support in Congress for the kind of legislation he wants. His efforts and those of his staff were particularly noticeable in connection with the minimum wage and unemployment compensation legislation.

Two thousand Seoul citizens who violated the 11 p.m. curfew were detained overnight in the Municipal Theater.

About 5,000 uniformed high school students paraded in downtown Seoul in support of the military revolution. As the parade ended, Gen. Chang went on the radio to order a halt to such demonstrations.

Vogt Announces Co-Chairmen for City CP Campaign

The appointment of co-chairmen for the Cerebral Palsy 1961 fund raising campaign was announced today by city chairman Francis J. Vogt.

Vogt named Mrs. Edward de Groff, Miss Helen Lowe, Mrs. Frank B. Matthews, and Mrs. John Schomer, all of Kingston, as co-chairmen of the "53 Minute March," which alludes to the fact that a child is born with cerebral palsy every 53 minutes in this country.

The Ulster County assistant district attorney said that Mrs. de Groff will coordinate the house-to-house drive in the First, Second, and Fourth Ward; Miss Lowe in the Third, Fifth, Sixth, and 13th Ward; Mrs. Matthews in the Seventh, Eighth, and Ninth Ward; Mrs. Schomer in the 10th, 11th, and 12th Ward.

The ladies currently are recruiting ward chairmen and block workers, and Vogt urged all public spirited residents to join with his co-chairmen to field an effective organization for the house-to-house financing drive.

"It's the physically handicapped children of our community who will benefit from this campaign," Vogt declared. "The funds raised will support the vital work done at the CP Treatment Center right here in Kingston."

He invited all interested parties to come to an "Open House" the evening of May 25th at 400 Broadway, Kingston, and see for themselves why the Treatment Center deserves the support of the community.

A documentary film of the rehabilitation programs currently serving 160 physically handicapped children at the Center will be followed by a tour conducted by the therapy staff. Following the tour of facilities, campaign plans will be outlined for workers, and kits of supporting materials distributed.

Earthquake Hits

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A mild earthquake shook Sydney and wide areas of southeastern New South Wales for half a minute today.

Central Merger Reports Denied

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — The Norfolk & Western Railway, now planning to unify with the Nickel Plate and Wabash lines, is not interested in considering a merger study with the New York Central System.

Stuart T. Saunders, president of the Norfolk & Western, rejected an offer by Alfred E. Perlman, president of the New York Central, that the Central be included in the mergers.

Saunders wrote Perlman: "Since breaking off merger negotiations with the Pennsylvania Railroad two years ago, your company has stated time and again that it desires to be affiliated with the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Baltimore & Ohio."

"The only result of such a study was unnecessary and fruitless delay in the accomplishment of a unification which has been carefully planned and overwhelmingly approved by the stockholders of all three railroads."

Rains Cause Floods

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — More than 20 days of steady rains have caused extensive flooding in central Yugoslavia. The road connecting Belgrade with Greece was cut today and 500 houses were under water in Leskovac. Helicopters rescued persons marooned on roofs. Army boats saved others. Three dead were reported.

First bridge across the Arkansas River was completed in 1873 at Little Rock.

Says People Forget Creature Comforts

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — "Many Americans are so bemused by the creature comforts that they seem to have forgotten the spirit of personal sacrifice that made this nation great," the national president of the Parent Teachers Association said today.

Mrs. James C. Parker, Grand Rapids, Mich., added, "There is nothing wrong with the creature comforts as such, it is the unmerited place they hold in relation to the things that are really important."

"And it is time, past time, for this country to recognize those things that are really important." Mrs. Parker, finishing a three-year term as president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, said in an interview.

"The great concern in this country with the creature comforts is perfectly evident in many cases where school bond issues are voted down. Many of the voters could afford the higher taxes to build schools, but they refuse to pay this most necessary of all their bills."

The 65th annual convention of the national congress opens today.

Plunged Off Cliff

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP) — A young man and three girls driving in an automobile Sunday night collided with a panel truck, plunged over a 50-foot cliff, rolled nearly 500 feet over rough ground and came to a stop in a gully. The driver, John Guest, 20, was hospitalized with head injuries. The girls had only minor cuts and bruises.

Seeks More Funds For Upstate Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Area Redevelopment Administration has been asked by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., to help nine economically troubled New York State cities.

Six New York areas — Amsterdamsburg, Auburn, Gloversville, Jamestown-Dunkirk, Ogdensburg - Massena-Malone, and Plattsburgh — already qualify for federal aid under the area development program, Keating said Sunday in a letter to Administrator William J. Batt Jr.

Keating said the Buffalo - Niagara Falls - Tonawanda - Schenectady-Troy areas, also faced economic difficulties which could qualify them for redevelopment aid under Batt's discretionary authority.

The senator asked for "every possible consideration... in order that they (the areas) can take action as quickly as possible to deal with problems of chronic unemployment."

Treaty Violated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States violated its neutrality laws and treaty obligations in supporting the ill-starred Cuban invasion, a group of law professors say.

In an open letter Sunday to President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the lawyers called on the administration to "take all appropriate steps" to see that the neutrality laws are enforced.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 22, 1961

NO SOFT SNAPS

Any poll you could take among politicians the country over would probably show they rate being mayor of New York City just about the most thankless job there is.

The man who has it, Robert F. Wagner, may seek it again this year, but under forced draft. His friends make plain he has no taste for the post with its mountain of seemingly unsolvable problems—traffic congestion, crime, city corruption, near-bankruptcy.

Another man, Republican Sen. Jacob Javits, just put on his pressure suit and resisted nine G's of political gravity pull from Richard Nixon, Governor Rockefeller and assorted other leaders who wanted him to make the mayoralty race.

Javits took a good look at New York's chaos and decided the Senate was heaven itself.

As a matter of fact, many of the nation's governorships don't look much more alluring these days. State after state is beset with painful money problems.

Recently Ohio's Gov. Michael DiSalle told President Kennedy he had many days when he didn't think he could stand the job. Reports have it that he's not certain about running again in 1962.

With variations, his story could be repeated in California, Washington state, Michigan, Pennsylvania and quite a few other spots. The author of Pennsylvania's one-term restriction may yet find himself posthumously chosen head of a new Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Politicians.

The one big thing that keeps men bucking for these jobs is the role many of them play in the shifting tides of national political power. Big-state governors commanding huge delegations inevitably pack weight at presidential nominating conventions. A strong New York mayor can affect tens of thousands of votes in the nation's biggest single urban vote cluster.

The GOP leaders were mindful of this when, in a tense New York hotel meeting, they pressed Javits to go. They felt he might win and break the Democratic grip that has held the city since the departure of the fabled Fiorello La Guardia.

They hoped thus for a doubleheader sweep of New York City and the New Jersey governorship next Nov. 7. They saw this as a hammer blow well struck for 1962 and beyond.

Unless city and state politics regains some of its old allure, Javits' "no" may foreshadow a developing pattern of reluctance among men tapped to try for the top posts. And over the door of the Senate we may soon see a sign reading: "Snug Harbor."

A TIME FOR CAUTION

While the upward climb of stock prices has suffered a slight interruption, a recent trading session closed with the Dow Jones industrial averages but a fraction away from their all-time high of 692. The experts say the market is now consolidating its position to make a further assault on that figure.

New highs will almost certainly be established this summer, what with the recession bottoming out. Barring some unforeseen catastrophe, few expect prices to go anywhere but up in the next few weeks.

This prospect has caused the heads of America's major stock exchanges to warn the public once again of careless speculation. The key word is "careless." Those who buy stocks naturally assume risks, but in a haphazard buying mood some investors appear to be taking some almost blind risks.

Also, as in any sellers market, if the fish are biting the unscrupulous are inclined to throw out any bait. In this climate the Securities and Exchange Commission has become doubly wary. For example, in one instance it forced a mutual fund to drop the word "growth" from its title, contending that this designation was

A BOLD DEFENSE

By accident I came across the singular fact that the Timken Roller Bearing Company has had the courage to put up a fight for freedom of speech and freedom of the press against the Internal Revenue Service which acts as a censorship agency.

Timken is suing the Government for $1,500,000 which it claims it has overpaid for income taxes, the Internal Revenue Service having taken upon itself the duty of deciding that advertising is not a cost of running a business. This expenditure was taxed as though it were profit not an expense.

The Treasury objects to institutional advertising, that is, the use of advertising space paid to attract attention but delivering a message instead of directly advocating the use of the product.

Institutional advertising is used because the advertiser finds that a message attracts greater attention to the product than boosting the product itself. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has for many years used its advertising space to tell about health. Its object is to prolong life. It is possible to say that the insurance companies are charitable organizations which love mankind and therefore seek to prolong life. On the other hand, these advertisements are keenly read because they are informative and are good business they keep the name of the company before the public in a favorable manner. Whether it is a noble act or a gimmick, it is of value.

In the case of Timken, the Government objected to advertisements which "... hailed the Spirit of Christmas, urged gifts to the United Fund, presenting the company's side of a controversy with a union, and promoting the city in which the company's plant was located in the hope of attracting other employers to the area."

The Internal Revenue Service apparently sets up a censorship of the contents of an advertisement, assuming that it can determine the motive for the employment of the space for something more than directly pushing a product. Timken, I read, sponsored broadcasts by Fulton Lewis and George Sokolsky. These, too, were disallowed as tax deduction, presumably because we did not tell the listener to buy bubble gum. Also small newspaper advertisements proclaiming such broadcasts were disallowed.

Perhaps Timken should have broadcasted that roller bearings are not to be eaten or chewed or fed to babies because they might kill the creature, but when used in machinery, no one could be hurt. Or maybe, the Internal Revenue Service prefers singers to speakers. I do not know what Fulton Lewis's singing voice is like, but the good Lord when he made provisions for Frank Sinatra and Sammy Davis Jr., probably felt that they were enough for one country and left me without a singing voice. I can always tell when another is off-key, but I have been told that I am always off-key. So I cannot do my piece in song which apparently is permissible, particularly if no one understands the words. The Internal Revenue Service's censor must be very weary of such words as moon and June which are deductible because they are not controversial.

Businesses are taxed 52 per cent of net profit. Naturally, the accountants take off expenses of all kinds before they determine the net profit. The President has been appealing for business to provide more jobs, but the Treasury has been taking steps not only to price American goods out of all markets, including the American, but to give the European and Asiatic competitor every possible advantage. This is particularly true as regards expense accounts. A West German salesman can afford to make the prospective customer to feel salubrious and willing by the normal processes of capitalistic sales procedures, namely, an excellent dinner, theatre parties, flowers for the customer's wife, etc., etc. The American salesman is forced to justify his expenditures, providing details of the process, which can be embarrassing. We may be very virtuous but goods will not be sold that way and never were.

Perhaps the Internal Revenue Service needs an advertisement consultant so that someone might know of the developments in forensic business since the days when the principal advertisements were patent medicines and trusses. There has been progress even if the Internal Revenue Service did not hear of it.

What You Should Know
About Use of Aspirin
By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The latest discovery about aspirin is almost like finding a small oil well in your back yard. For now it seems that this simple drug is capable of lowering the blood sugar in patients with milk diabetes (sugar sickness). It's difficult to figure out why this effect has been overlooked for so long. But I suppose we should be grateful that this important action has come to light at all.

Because of this most recent observation, it may be of practical importance to review some of the important facts about aspirin.

Its chemical name is acetylsalicylic acid. When purchased by its chemical name in five grain tablets, you can buy as many as 500 tablets for much less than a dollar.

Since it's a pure chemical, no one product is any better or any worse than all other products.

Its usual dose is five to 10 grains, taken every three or four hours. There is no need to give children any special aspirin. To provide a lesser dose, you merely powder the five grain tablet and have a smaller amount. In the unusual case of the child who can't or won't swallow a powder, you can float the dose in milk or mix it with ice cream.

If you prefer to substitute a liquid product of similar action, you can give teaspoonful doses of Elizer Tempa or Tylenol. Each teaspoonful contains two grains of aminophenol, a close relative of aspirin.

Aspirin acts in 15 to 30 minutes. The action may be speeded a bit by powdering the tablet between two spoons and washing the powder down with a half glass of hot water, a cup of tea or coffee (to get the additional caffeine effect of the "doctor's prescription") or a drink of a carbonated beverage (to get effervescence).

The aspirin effect is not intensified by combining it with drugs like phenacetin or salol.

Aspirin does cause occasional stomach irritation; hence it is best to avoid it in patients known to have ulcers. But, even so, the irritation may be reduced greatly by preparing the stomach with a preliminary cup of hot water, soup or milk and by washing the powdered tablet down with more warm fluid.

If a buffering action is desired, a half teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda may be mixed with the powder. Or the combination may be washed down with a glass of club soda.

Since aspirin is mainly used to relieve pain and reduce fever, its use should be discontinued as soon as it has accomplished its purpose. And, if the pain or fever fails to respond to three or four doses, you'd better call your doctor for then the causative disturbance may require more expert attention than you can provide yourself.

"Really, Aren't You Ashamed of Yourself?"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A prediction of business upturn made last March 6 by Dr. Walter Heller, chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers, seems to be coming true. And administration planners are hailing this as about the only good news there is in a naughty world.

WHAT HELLER SAID in his highly qualified statement before the Congressional Economic Committee was that, "an upturn may be in the making in the next few months, but it will be just the beginning of the end of the recession."

Announcement that Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial production rose from 102 in March to 105 in April is the first robin which the economic bird watchers are hailing to prove that spring recovery is at least around the corner. Other harbingers are a lengthened work week and slight drop in unemployment.

This is a slower recovery than after the 1954 and 1958 recessions, but the 1960 recession was milder. It is conceded around Washington that this recovery would have come anyway, even if there had been no change in administration last January. The 1960 decline is described as an inventory adjustment, and in time it corrected itself.

The recession bottomed out, or reached its trough as the economists now say, in late February-early March. But no one is saying that Kennedy administration economic policies have been responsible for the rise since then.

There haven't been enough Kennedy economic policies put into effect and not enough time has elapsed to see what their impact will be.

The extension of unemployment insurance payments and the temporary relief measures may have accentuated the recovery a little, for the turn has come earlier than expected.

THE ADMINISTRATION has not revised its earlier estimates of pumping about $3 billion more government money into the economy during its first year. But that is not a great deal in terms of a $500 billion-a-year gross national product.

So there is still some question of how vigorous the coming recovery is going to be, and what's going to happen to gross national product and unemployment rates.

In the first year after the 1958 recession trough, there was a 10 per cent increase in the gross national product. There is some doubt that the 1961 recovery will be that big.

The most optimistic estimate now, and it is emphasized this is not a prediction — is for an 8.5 per cent increase by the second quarter of 1962, at the end of the first year after the February-March trough.

This would put the gross national product rate at $545 billion a year. But the discouraging aspect of this is that it would still leave the unemployment rate at about the present level of 6.5 per cent of the labor force. The reason given is that new workers will be coming into the market for jobs faster than they can be absorbed.

WHAT SEEMS TO BE bothering the administration's planners more than anything else is an economic gap. Not the missile gap, but an economic gap. This is the great amount of unused productive capacity in the country.

It is estimated at about 10 per cent — or with a gross national product rate of $500 billion a year in the first quarter of 1961 — about $50 billion. In other words, gross national product could be at a $550 billion annual rate today if industry were operating at an optimum 95 per cent of capacity. And unemployment would be reduced to 4 per cent.

The direction of the Kennedy economic planning for the long haul is apparently going to be aimed at encouraging a faster growth rate to obtain these desirable ends. But the means by which they are to be achieved are still by no means clear for they have not yet been approved by Congress.

Also Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, previously had given the Senate committee his explanation of the affair. This, too, was secret, and the press still has no way of judging just who was or was not responsible for what happened in Cuba.

How then can the public make up its own mind? Recently there have been suggestions from President Kennedy that perhaps there should be censorship of the voluntary kind for the press. But isn't it the duty of the press to tell the people when top ranking officials in government, including the President himself, have made some serious mistakes?

A member of Congress familiar with the facts, but himself not a participant, sums it all up with this remark: "It was a case of cumulative stupidity."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

TUCSON, May 21 — The population of Arizona has risen more than 70 per cent in the last 10 years. The Tucson Gas, Electric Light and Power Company reports that one day's production of electricity last Aug. 2 was more than the average monthly output in 1936. Like the midwest in 1900, with Germans and Scandinavians, Irish, Italians and Poles storming into the emptiness of the prairie, this southwestern region is feeling a strange stir of might.

There is not enough white paper in the world to contain the story of the Indians. They are here, they have great virtues and they have been victims of many wrongs, but the only proposal looking to "improvement" and redress would obliterate them by de-Indianizing them. That is the word the Great White Father used to describe a brutal experiment in a school at Chilocco, Okla., which imposed iron discipline on Indian children taken far from their families.

They marched in formations, and for mass punishment of trivial individual offenses, whole classes had to stand at attention so rigidly and so long that some of them fainted and were let lie where they fell.

The Indians are Indians still. The Mexicans, or Spaniards, as some of them prefer to be called, have intermarried with Caucasians and though they, too, are set a little apart from the Caucasians by their complexion, commingling is in progress. These dark peoples are developing political force and identity.

Lyndon Johnson cut loose from Texas by calling himself a southwestern American in the 1960 campaign. This was foresight on his part, for the Nordic majority of a rather sparse Texas as population is losing dominance and politicians are cultivating the dark people.

The Arizona color line is much less than demarcation elsewhere so Negroes in Arizona are much happier in this phase of life than Chicago or New York Negroes. Acrimonious New York agitators tried their wiles tentatively and suble because they found no hateful situation to exploit. There is a strangely amiable society in which elements mix with remarkably little asperity or even rivalry.

Politically, Arizona is no longer a Democratic state, although the Udall brothers, Stewart and Mo. Secretary of the Interior and Congressman-elect, are Democrats of radical quality. The Democrats just barely didn't beat Mac Matheson, the Republican who ran against Mo Udall in a special election for the seat Stewart Udall vacated to go to Interior. And the old situation that consolidated Arizona into the solid South is emphatically past. Senator Barry Goldwater is the individual most responsible for this revolution. He is doing business as a conservative far beyond Arizona. And while unions do prosper, there is strong hostility against them among the large element of new citizens. Coming in from the midwest, south and east and even, a few, from California to escape the smog, these people have been excluded from jobs by union systems of seniority. They had to go through heartrending delays while their credentials were transferred here from local "back home." And after the transfers were made, they had to wait until their names were called. Meanwhile they used up their savings and their children didn't eat much. So the unions have simply failed to catch many of the new citizens and right-to-work is not only an article of the Arizona constitution but a comforting reality to Goldwater's following.

Two mighty corporate forces are pushing the material and, incidentally, the social and intellectual growth of Arizona.

During and since the second war, the Southern Pacific hauled an enormous portion of the "war effort" to the Pacific waterfront and coastal factories. Since then the railroad has grown with the southwestern country. The stretch from El Paso to Los Angeles is a roaring highway of freight cars including designs that Railroad Jack, the classical hobo of the past, never dreamed of. Piggyback trucks owned and operated by Southern Pacific roll through on flat cars to unloading points where motor drivers hitch up and whip them over the highways to near-by destinations. Triple-deck rigs are hauling automobiles from Michigan. It is one of the busiest railroads in the world and the freight truckers are losing ground to the competition of a far more efficient vehicle and better management.

El Paso natural gas, which actually was conceived in Tucson, provides an enormous share of the energy for many municipal light and power companies and for new copper mines and pumps that water the abundant desert farms. El Paso gas, mainly from the Permian Basin of West Texas, is the source of both heat and refrigeration in most of the southern counties of California and for practically all of the new southwest on the hither side of the coastal barrier.

Seventy-five years ago, hardship was terrible, and the people were sluggish and crude. The southwest of 1961 was beyond the farthest horizon of imagination. It was cruel, bitter country and life was cheap. Now ease and comfort have set in and most of the new pioneers who can persevere through relatively slight trials and frustrations will share abundance.

This is a new Illinois but with palms and cacti and without snows and a consolidated underworld of society and politics. (Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

No Point Seen in Looking For Cuba Fiasco Scapegoat

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 22 — Maybe the less said about the Cuban "invasion" fiasco the better. But when Sen. Gore of Tennessee, Democrat, blames the failure on the joint chiefs of staff and openly urges that they be replaced, then the subject can hardly be ignored.

Perhaps if the British or Canadian parliamentary system were in operation in the United States today, there also would be suggestions that President Kennedy himself be replaced or at least subjected to the customary vote of "confidence" or "no confidence."

It should be noted that Sen. Gore made his comment after listening to a substantial part of the three hours of testimony given to a subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last Friday by Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, head of the joint chiefs. Since this testimony was secret, the public has no way of judging whether Sen. Gore's interpretation is justified. Other senators who heard the testimony disagree emphatically with the Tennessee senator's verdict.

Where is the press left in these circumstances, and how is the country to know the whole truth? For obviously while Gen. Lemnitzer answered questions frankly and listening senators are convinced he gave them truthful answers, it was obvious to them there were many things to which he was not privileged to discuss.

Dulles Testified
Also Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, previously had given the Senate committee his explanation of the affair. This, too, was secret, and the press still has no way of judging just who was or was not responsible for what happened in Cuba.

How then can the public make up its own mind? Recently there have been suggestions from President Kennedy that perhaps there should be censorship of the voluntary kind for the press. But isn't it the duty of the press to tell the people when top ranking officials in government, including the President himself, have made some serious mistakes?

A member of Congress familiar with the facts, but himself not a participant, sums it all up with this remark: "It was a case of cumulative stupidity."

Unprecedented Case
This correspondent would

It is a kind of situation that is new to the American government, especially since, on the one hand, it was strictly a Cuban affair and, on the other, it was so much the concern of the United States that it seems tragic the decision wasn't made either to go all-out with air support and everything else or stay out altogether. That's perhaps hindsight, too.

It would be unfortunate to start looking for scapegoats. Significantly, Sen. Morse, chairman of the Senate subcommittee which heard Gen. Lemnitzer's testimony, said afterward to reporters that the general had given helpful testimony, and added:

"I have complete confidence in the joint chiefs of staff and their ability to protect the security of the country in connection with any military matter over which they have complete jurisdiction."

Hesitancy and Forbearance
Reading between the lines, this is but another way of emphasizing the real point of the controversy—namely, that the Cuban invasion was not a strictly military affair which our own military men planned and executed. It was a mixture of civilian hesitancy—due to a fear of public opinion in Latin America—and forbearance by the military chiefs who were never given full responsibility for the project.

So, after all, maybe the less said about it the better, and maybe President Kennedy, who is studying now, through Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, retired, the best way hereafter to carry on such operations in the "cold war," will come up with an answer. For the communists are constantly engaged in plotting such enterprises on their side all over the world, especially inside many a country in Latin America. (Reproduction right reserved)

So They Say...

My only complaint is that the flight wasn't long enough. —Cmndr. Alan B. Shepard, America's first man in space.

Communism can't be shut down in Latin America. It must be shown up. This should be an object of our policy. But when a resort to arms was taken in Cuba, then the error was compounded by allowing a corporal's guard to attempt an army's work. —Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho).

We have overregulated and overtaxed some parts of the (U. S. transportation system) with little regard to what is expected. We have underregulated and undertaxed some parts with little regard to the effect of the whole. —Clarence D. Martin Jr., Undersecretary of Commerce for Transportation.

Seek More Funds To Take Lecture Program in June

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The State Division of Military and Naval Affairs, which claims a duty to keep the public informed, wants to lecture New Yorkers on the dangers of Communism.

Col. Joseph T. Willey, operations officer, said the division would ask the Legislature for funds to take over a lecture program the Militia Association will begin next month.

The Militia Association, a society of officers in the state's military forces, will hold a seminar June 24 in Syracuse for its members. Plans call for later participation by civilians.

The association's program is sanctioned by the division, Willey said. Lecturers and information on Communism is being provided by American Strategy Inc., an anti-Communist organization, he said Saturday.

Maj. Gen. A. C. O'Hara, commanding general of the New York Army National Guard and Gov. Rockefeller's chief of staff, said at a briefing session for newsmen:

"We of the Division of Military and Naval Affairs feel that a large portion of the responsibilities of leadership in the state rests squarely on our shoulders if we are to assist in the development of a more informed public who will be alert to this (Communist) menace."

Lt. Col. G. E. Hartel, a retired Army intelligence officer who now represents American Strategy, said weekend strategy seminars will be held throughout the state.

Form Committee On Youth Fitness; 50 Participate

A New Paltz organizational youth fitness committee was formed recently when a joint meeting of the P-TA's took place at the Central School. About fifty interested citizens attended and participated in a program featuring a talk by Dr. Lloyd O. Appleton, associate director of the Department of Physical Education at the United States Military Academy, West Point.

Dr. Appleton stressed the need for family activities that would assist youth in proper growth and development. Family together would create an atmosphere conducive to the best possible adult-child relationship he stated.

Dr. Appleton, members of the panel, and the audience stressed the need for programs that would realistically meet the problems of youth. There was a consensus of opinion that adult guidance was an absolute necessity for the attainment of the positive purposes in the lives of our youth.

The audience decided to continue its active interest in youth fitness by forming an organizational committee, specifically for youth fitness problems, and the organization of a community program.

Members of the temporary committee are Merrill Archard, Mrs. Pauline Binninger, Raymond Buckley, Mrs. Shelia Otis, Louis Priven, Dr. William Pugliese, William Russell, Dr. Jeremiah Sachs, Frank Tantillo, Joseph Walker, Mrs. Charles Wolbers. This committee plans to hold their first meeting in the near future.

G.O.P. Chairman Plans to Resign At Poughkeepsie

Resignation of Poughkeepsie Republican City Chairman William V. Welch is expected to be submitted at a committee session Thursday. Welch has held the position for nearly 14 years.

Welch has decided to resign the position because he does not have sufficient time to do the job as it should be done. He is attorney to the Dutchess County board of supervisors.

At present County Commissioner of Elections Robert E. Stevens, a two-time Republican mayor of Poughkeepsie, appears to be the likely successor to Mr. Welch.

Mr. Welch has considered resigning several times but has been prevailed upon by friends to continue in office. He will remain a member of the committee from the Third Ward, his former home ward. He now lives at 5 Daniels Court, in the Seventh Ward.

Police Are Asked To Help Find Missing Teener

Local police were asked Saturday to assist in the attempt to locate a 15-year-old East Meredith boy, who has been missing from home since Friday, and who had apparently stopped here.

He is Douglas Earl Briggs, who was reported to be of stocky build, has blond hair, blue eyes and a light complexion. He is five feet, seven inches tall, 140 pounds, and wore a gray sports jacket, white shirt, and dark trousers.

It was noted that he might be headed for Florida, and that he had mailed a postcard to a friend from Kingston. He has been known to work in gas stations, police were told. His father talked to Lt. Charles A. Hoehing here Saturday.

Two area women struck by a car on an Albany street late Saturday evening, May 6, were reported in satisfactory condition today at the Albany Medical Center.

They are Mrs. LaMonte V. Simpkins, Woodstock, and Mrs. George Brink, Mt. Marion, who were struck by a car as they were crossing Madison Avenue about 10 p.m. Both women have been on the critical list for most of the two weeks since the accident.

A car operated by Theodore F. Johannsen, 20, of Pleasant Valley skidded broadside on wet pavement and struck the women just after they left a meeting in the capital city.

Federal Aid to

gress, on its schedule this week. Senate backers of the school aid bill were able to defeat all five attempts to amend it in four days of debate last week.

Pending as the Senate meets today is a proposal of Sen. Prescott Bush, R-Conn., to bar any federal grants to racially segregated schools.

This is given little chance, however, because even the strong civil rights advocates among the bill's supporters have agreed to fight such amendments. They fear that adoption of such a rider would probably kill the bill.

In fact, the measure's sponsors welcomed the amendment. They believe its defeat would comfort Southern legislators whose votes are needed for final passage of the legislation, particularly in the House.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Selective gains by blue chips pushed the stock market toward another record high in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.10 to 253.20 with industrials up 2.10, rails up .60 and utilities up .10. DuPont spurred to another new high, gaining 8 points at 228.

Some utilities, motors, rubbers, retails and other chemicals helped the advance but the performance of several stock groups was spotty. Most gains were small.

Woolworth gained more than a point.

MGM rose 1 1/2. Zenith spurred 4 1/2. Avnet Electronics rebounded another 2 points. Dover Corp. was up a point. International Business Machines rose 3 points.

Big Three motors were moderately higher.

Some tobaccos were soft. Some major airlines took fractional losses. Oils were barely steady.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.97 at 710.93. Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds declined.

Local Jaycees Win State Honors

CHARLES A. RICE

The Saugerties Jaycees tied for fourth place among 139 locals throughout New York State in the annual ranking competition.

In addition, the local chapter walked off with five first-place awards in the scrapbook competition. These awards included the Glessenbier award to the local with the best all-around external and internal programs; the public affairs award; the public relations award; and two special awards for the project Operation Survival. The Saugerties Jaycees were judged best in this category among the locals in Division 2 (communities of 9,000 to 15,000 population), and best among all locals in the state conducting the Operation Survival project.

In addition to the chapter awards, State Membership Chairman George Turner was recognized as the outstanding internal project chairman. The awards were presented to the Saugerties local at the Jaycees' national convention meeting, Jamestown. The meeting was highlighted by the election of new officers to the New York State Jaycees. Saugerties Past Local President Charles Rice was successful in his bid for the office of national director.

Five other Jaycees elected to this position were Richard Keen of Rochester, Edward Schein of White Plains, Carl Isley of Watkins Glen, R. Heiney of Binghamton, and Charles Young of Oswego. Young and Rice each received the unanimous support of every local in the state.

Curtis Bauer of Jamestown defeated Joseph Bruno of Glens Falls for the state presidency. Warren Potash of Buffalo defeated Ray Howland of Elmira for the office of internal vice president. Taylor Powell of Lewiston defeated Roger Edkin of Oneida for the office of external vice president. Jim Mulcare of Schenectady was unopposed in his successful bid for the office of international director. The men comprise the executive officers in the New York State Jaycees for the year 1961-1962.

Bauer, the new state president, succeeded Donald Lawson of Saugerties. Lawson has been the prime force behind the development of the Saugerties Jaycees in the state organization. For its size no other local in New York State has provided so many leaders to the state organization. During the five years of its existence, the Saugerties local has provided the state organization with four state chairmen, six regional vice presidents, one internal vice president, one president, and now one national director.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Donald S. Fellows and with Mrs. Barbara Sparks as accompanist, will present "Holy Lord of All" by Williams; "Absent" by Metcalf-Lyones; and "The Hundred Pipers" arranged by Whiting. The annual Richard C. Kennedy Award to the year's Outstanding Glee Clubber will be a high point of the evening.

Debaters Place Third in Finale

Almost overshadowed by the Model United Nations undertaking, Saugerties varsity debaters finished third in the Hudson Valley Round Robin Debate Finale at Arlington Thursday. Ronald Smith and Patricia Sasso paced the Sawyers with three wins and a loss. Patricia Mayone and Pamela LaPlante represented Saugerties on the negative side.

First place and the Bar Association sweepstakes trophy were captured by Arlington. Poughkeepsie finished second.

The third place finish completed the Sawyer season with laurels in all three Eastern New York tournaments. The Blue and White while completing its fifth consecutive winning season were less successful when competing for state honors against Western and New York City schools. They were first in the Mohawk-Hudson Capital District Regional, second in the Eastern New York tourney at Poughkeepsie, and third in the Mid-Hudson finale.

The debate tourney and the Model UN also completed the eight year coaching post for Malcolm Bump. Since becoming members of the National Forensic League in 1955, Saugerties Varsity and Junior Varsity squads have won 692 debates against 515 losses. Bump became a National Forensic League Diamond Key Coach in April and ranks fourth in New York State. Bump will teach history at Hendrick Hudson High School, Montrose, in 1961-62. He has also been designated New York State representative to the 1962 Speech Association topic selection committee.

Little Gardens Group Plans Show on June 7

A report was given on the trip to Sterling Forest by members of the society May 3, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Willit.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Hans Van Lengen.

Jaycees Bake Sale

The Saugerties Jaycees will have its third annual sweetmobile bake sale Thursday, May 25, when decorated station wagons will tour three sections of the area—Barclay Heights, Mt. Marion and Blue Mountain. A variety of home baked goods will be available. The sale starts at 9:30 a.m. and will continue until all items are sold.

It was announced by co-chairmen Mrs. Robert Schnell and Mrs. Gerald Kurtz that in case of rain, the sale will be held Friday.

Ultrasonics Field Offers Big Growth But Some Risk

Q "Would you kindly discuss ultrasonics? I understand there are speculative growth possibilities in this field. Would you name a promising stock?"—J. G.

A The field you ask about—ultrasonics, or "silent sound"—seems definitely headed for major industry status.

During and after the last war, much research was done on powerful yet inaudible sounds. New properties of these ultra-high pitched tones have been discovered and are now being applied in ways which really test the imagination. Here are a few: cleaning metal parts, welding, washing dishes and drilling holes (even square ones) in brittle metals.

There are a number of companies competing for profits in this fast-growing field. Competition is getting hot, but I believe the potential market is large enough to provide for plenty of expansion on the company level.

Lacks Evidence In Kidnap Case

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A sheriff's detective says there is insufficient evidence to jail three waiters allegedly involved in a plot two years ago to kidnap two of Elizabeth Taylor's children.

"So far all we have is the word of one conspirator," detective Jerry Brown said Saturday. "There is absolutely no corroborating evidence."

One of the waiters told Sheriff Ralph Lamb that a car smashup prevented the trio from carrying out the kidnap plan. The informant feared that the other two men planned a new kidnap attempt during the current visit of Miss Taylor and her husband, singer Eddie Fisher.

Brown said the plot was to kidnap the youngsters while Miss Taylor was living in Las Vegas in 1959. At that time, Fisher was completing his residence requirements for a Nevada divorce from actress Debbie Reynolds.

Miss Taylor and Fisher issued this statement: "We don't understand how these three men are walking around free even after we were told by the FBI and the sheriff's office that one of them has confessed."

The waiters were not identified.

ROGER E. SPEAR

You must realize that high risk is common when investing in young fields such as ultrasonics. Because of this factor, I think you might do well to buy Gulton (ASE). This company has a good stake in ultrasonics, but it is also solidly represented in other science fields. Gulton is extremely well-diversified, and I favor it for growth.

Q "My broker cautioned me recently on buying shares of a stock because of the existing 'thin market.' What does he mean?" — D. C.

A He was referring to a limited supply of shares available for trading in a particular stock. This usually occurs where capitalization is very small or where large blocks of stock are closely held.

The result of thin markets is often exaggerated swings in price — both upside and downside — when anything more than a nominal amount of stock is traded. Over the past two years, we have seen fantastic gains made by stocks with a rather thin market.

This factor works both ways, of course, as many people found to their sorrow in the case of Farrington. Over the past 15 months, the latter stock went from 16 1/4 to 57 1/2 and then fell back to 16 1/2.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Simple, Indeed

SPARTANSBURG, S. C. (AP) — When Columnist Seymour Rosenberg suggested in the Spartanburg Herald that hot dogs be served on bagels at football games, Mrs. Martha K. It's quite simple, replied Rosenberg, just get one of the meat companies to make round hot dogs.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Wooling is more intense this spring in that triangle—industry, science and education.

Industry is spending more in recruiting likely skills with many top companies saying that the mild recession dampened their ardor not one whit. Universities confirm that the added interest in the burgeoning nuclear and space age and in science in general has made seniors in technical fields more sought after than ever.

Close Link With Colleges

Many companies are working more closely with colleges in outlining and underwriting studies in fields that industry is entering and in putting more cash into their own post college training programs.

And many firms are looking carefully at nearby education facilities before locating their research laboratories or specialized plants.

A General Electric official says that his company is increasing education facilities within the company and that more such facilities in nearby colleges and universities are being made available to GE technicians.

A Jersey Standard Oil official says although the petroleum industry may have "oil running out of its ears" right now, "We need chemists and chemical engineers and physicists and mathematicians all the time, and expect to continue this need indefinitely."

Demands for Grads Excellent

Schools reporting to Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. in Minneapolis that the demand for their engineering and scientific grads is excellent and often better than a year ago include: University of Technology, Michigan; University of Pennsylvania, Georgia Institute of Technology, University of Minnesota, University of Washington, University of California at Los Angeles, Scott Hill, manager of engineering services recruiting for GE says "The current swing is toward electrical engineers and solid state physicists."

New specialties develop. He mentions bionics, the science of adapting nature's processes to engineering.

"In many cases," he adds, "GE plants have developed their own educational courses or made special arrangements with neighboring colleges and universities to produce the kind of education needed for technical people."

Industry Branching Out

Hill thinks this is why the electronics industry has settled plants "near highly regarded educational institutions in the Boston, Los Angeles and San Francisco Bay areas."

The need for more scientists in the oil industry has not been cramped by the current excess of production facilities over demand.

David A. Shepard, an executive vice president of Jersey Standard Oil, says. The industry is branching out into many technical fields. He notes that "oil companies currently are building or expanding around 30 petrochemical plants" and will go on breaking into new markets with new products.

"Our scientists are devoting a great deal of time to fundamental research," Shepard says, but "even the research scientist has to be aware of the economic stakes involved." He says the need is for "more, not fewer people with a taste for new ideas and with solid economic sense."

All of which may be why each year many companies pay higher starting salaries and provide additional training to improve the skills of men and women in many varied fields of specialization.

Dangerous Plaything

Not long ago, a four-year old boy playing with matches started a fire. He died in the blaze. So did his mother and five other children.

Of course, nobody lets children play with matches. But it is difficult for even the most cautious parent to realize how curious a child is about everything, how imitative, and how fascinated by a flame.

Don't kid yourself that even the littlest toddler doesn't know how to strike a match. If a child has seen you do it, he knows how.

If at all possible, don't leave matches around where a child can get to them—mother's handbag, the pocket of dad's jacket, a shelf a child can reach by standing on a chair. This would be ideal.

However, the ideal cannot always be reached. If you can't keep matches out of a child's

Says Censorship
Is Not Necessary

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE) says "It is the consensus of the organized newspaper groups and wire services that no censorship of any kind is imperative at the moment."

Felix R. McKnight, executive editor of the Dallas Times Herald, made this report to the Texas Associated Press Managing Editors Association Sunday.

McKnight and other newspaper executives recently discussed with President Kennedy the President's comments about publication of classified information. "Kennedy challenged the American press with the responsibility of protecting the national security. The American Press has accepted this challenge and will perform in the best interests of the country," McKnight said.

Dutchess Girl
Injured in Fall
From Her Horse

A 12-year-old girl in the town of Wappinger, Dutchess county, fell from a horse Saturday for the second time within three months.

Jean M. Frascati, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frascati of Osborne Hill road, was admitted to Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, for observation and treatment. She reportedly suffered a head injury in the fall near her home.

Hospital authorities, who Saturday night reported her condition as good, said she was discharged on Sunday.

The girl was hurt March 5 in a similar mishap. On that occasion she was also admitted to the hospital for X-rays and treatment.

ARMY BAND TO PLAY—The 30-member Salvation Army Band and Songsters of Pater-son, N. J., will play in the Kingston-Saugerties area during the weekend of May 27-28 as part of the celebration of National Salvation Army Week, May 22-28.

Salvation Army
Band Is Coming
For Special Week

The Salvation Army Citadel Band and Songsters will perform in Ulster County May 27 and 28 as part of National Salvation Army Week, it was announced today by Maj. Foster J. Meitrott of the Kingston unit.

The 30-member band under the direction of Kenneth Siddle, bandmaster, and Richard Schotter, songster director, will both sing and play.

It will present a concert at the Old Dutch Church at 8 p. m. Saturday and take part in the drive-in services at 8:45 a. m. and the morning worship at the sanctuary at 11 a. m. The band will present a concert at Saugerties Central High School at 3 p. m. Sunday and at the Salvation Army building, 94 North Front Street, at 6:45 p. m.

Meitrott said today that the band is a fine balance combination which has no counterpart in American brass band circles and that its ensemble playing can handle with equal facility reverent chorals, majestic oratorios, or dashing and brilliant fantasias and marches.

Members of the band hold other positions, he said, but give of their time "to play for the honor and glory of God through the services of the Salvation Army Band and Songsters."

The band, which hails from Paterson, N. J., is led by Siddle, a mechanical engineer employed by the Federal Paper Board Company, Bogota, N. J., and Schotter, a senior mechanical engineer with the Westinghouse Electric Corp., Metuchen, N. J.

Other top members are George Hyatt, male chorus director, who plays an E flat soprano cornet, who is an officer in the Hanover Bank, New York; Walter Dix, band secretary, who plays a double B flat tuba, an employee of the International Telephone and Telegraph Laboratories where he is manager of employee services; William Lundsten, band librarian, B flat solo cornet, employed by the National YMCA, and Lawrence Robertson, deputy

Methodists Reject Request
In Red China U.N. Dispute

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—The Troy Conference of the Methodist Church has declined to reaffirm a previous call for better understanding between Red China and the United States.

The conference also rejected a resolution urging continued opposition to the admission of Red China to the United Nations.

The delegates did, however, approve a resolution stating that the conference stand "is in no way committing the membership of the local Methodist churches of the Troy conference."

The Board of Social Christian Concerns, which brought the issue to the floor Saturday, turned down a request from the First Methodist Church of Rensselaer that the conference rescind the stand of previous years.

A resolution submitted by the board asking the conference to reaffirm its position was tabled by the delegates.

In 1959 and 1960, the conference said it favored a better relationship between the United States and Red China, but stopped short of urging recognition of the Communist regime or its admission to the UN.

Individual churches protested that stand.

Sunday at the final session of the conference's five-day annual meeting, Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke announced Pastoral appointments and transfers.

Heading the list was formal announcement of the appointment of the Rev. Lawrence Larowe, pastor of First Methodist Church in Plattsburgh, as superintendent of the conference's Troy District. The bishop previously had announced his intention to appoint the Rev. Mr. Larowe to succeed the Rev. Terrence F. Ogden, who becomes an associate pastor at Trinity Methodist Church, Albany.

Bishop Wicke reappointed three other superintendents: The Rev. C. W. Kessler of the Albany District; The Rev. E. N. Haley of the Burlington, Vt., District, and

The Rev. H. F. Govey of the Glens Falls District.

The new pastoral appointments and transfers by districts:

Albany

FATHERS:

Is your family's financial security program as up-to-date as your family? Find out with a FAMILY SECURITY CHECK-UP

Every father knows that his family's needs change from year to year. Perhaps there's a new baby...or a new house...or a teen-ager thinking of college. These are just some of the reasons why every father should have a thorough review of his family's security program regularly—whether he needs insurance or not.

What you could lose without one

There are mistakes, oversights, gaps in the average man's financial security program. Too much of it is haphazard. Too much of it is left to chance. It lacks a plan. Or, too often, it simply falls behind the times.

For example, the Social Security law has been changed nine times since its inception. And the Social Security benefits your wife and children could get may not dovetail efficiently with your pension or insurance programs. Then too—you can unintentionally "disinherit" a child, in effect, if you have overlooked naming him among your beneficiaries.

More than an interview—a service

Metropolitan, the Company you look to for authoritative information on physical health, offers a way to check up on your family's financial health.

Metropolitan representatives have been trained in Metropolitan's own schools and are qualified by solid experience to bring you this Family Security Check-Up service. They are equipped with businesslike charts and tables that show you exactly where you stand.

Whether you need insurance or not, this service makes sense. Remember, Metropolitan is as local as Main Street—as close as your phone. Call your Metropolitan man today.

There is no obligation—except to those you love.

Family
Security
Check-Up

WHAT IT IS AND WHAT IT DOES FOR YOU

With the help of your Metropolitan man:

1. You check the facts: your Social Security, your home, your life insurance, your pension plan, your savings and other assets. You may be surprised to learn how much you're worth.
2. You weigh your responsibilities: mortgage or rent payments, education, retirement, accident and sickness emergencies; how much it would cost your family to live without you.
3. You learn where you stand. You determine your weak and strong points... whether the provisions you have made for your family will do what you intend. You get the facts in front of you.
4. You plan for the future. Based on these facts, you decide what action, if any, may be needed to give you a family security plan, tailor-made to your own needs and ambitions—one which makes good sense for you.

Kingston Man Union College Valedictorian; Commencement Exercises Set for May 28

SCHENECTADY — For the second consecutive year, a Kingston man will head his graduating class at Union College, it was announced today by President Carter Davidson.

Serving as Valedictorian of the Class of 1961 will be Frederic W. Bruhn of 35 Jefferson Avenue, who leads this year's seniors in academic standing with a grade average of better than 4.500 out of a possible 5.000. He will deliver the valedictory address on Sunday morning, May 28, during Union's 166th annual commencement exercises.

A 1957 graduate of Kingston High School, Bruhn has majored in pre-medical studies at Union and will receive a Bachelor of Science degree during the commencement ceremony Sunday. He was recently elected to membership in both Phi Beta Kappa (national liberal arts honor fraternity) and Sigma Xi (national science honor society), two of the highest honors which can be conferred upon an undergraduate student.

Bruhn, who will be 21 years old next month, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Bruhn of Kingston. He has been a mem-

We The Women Great-Grandma Would Be Way Out of Step Today

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Great-grandmother was a wonderful woman in her day and she got full credit for it. But how would she fare if she were living today? Why, the experts would have a regular field day with great-grandma.

Great-grandma put her family first and was proud of it. Today she would be accused of not looking "beyond her own four walls."

Great-grandma stuffed her family with wonderfully rich and soul-satisfying meals. Today the psychiatrists would tell her she was stuffing her family with food to make up for a lack of love.

Great-grandma was a homebody. Today she would be told she was shirking her civic responsibilities.

Great-grandma washed her kids' mouths out with soap when they used naughty words. Today the experts would call her down.

Kindergarten Registration In OCS District on June 3

Kindergarten registration for next September in the Ontario Central Schools District will be held on Saturday, June 3 at six locations, Ronald P. Vanni, director of Elementary education, has announced.

The places and time for registration follow:

Woodstock elementary school, 9 a. m. to 12 noon; Olive Library, West Shokan, 10 a. m. to 12 noon; parish hall, Phoenixia, 10 a. m. to 12 noon; West Hurley elementary school, 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.; American Legion Hall, Ashokan, 1 p. m. to 3 p. m.; Mt. Tremper school, 1 p. m. to 3 p. m.

Letters will be mailed during the week of May 22 informing parents of the registration location for their child. In each case the child will be registered at the building he will attend in September. Newcomers to the district may call the Bennett school, Boiceville, to determine the building at which their children should be registered.

In order to be eligible for kindergarten, 1961, a child must be five years old on or before January 1, 1962. Proof of the child's birth date in the form of a birth or baptismal certificate and records of vaccination and immunization should be presented when the child is registered.

Set New Policies

Several new policies are being instituted in the registration procedures this year. Registration is being held in all buildings housing kindergarteners so the children may see their new classrooms, meet their teachers and experiment with the school equipment.

The teacher, school nurse and principal will be available in each building to answer questions and discuss the school program.

Physical examinations will not be given on registration day. Parents are encouraged, instead, to take their child to their family physician who knows the child's health background and history and who will be better able to provide a more complete examination. Forms for the family doctors to report the examination will be provided on registration day.

The 1961-62 edition of the district's Kindergarten Booklet will be distributed. The booklet, revised yearly by staff members, contains information of interest to parents of kindergarten children and will serve as a handy reference throughout the year.

Those who cannot attend the registration on June 3rd, may register the child during the week of June 5-9 between the hours of 9:00 a. m.-4:00 p. m. in the office at:

The Bennett School, Boiceville.
The West Hurley School, West Hurley.
The Woodstock School, Woodstock.

OCS Students in Law Day Project

Students of Business Law and Consumer Economics at the Ontario Central School participated in Law Day activities arranged by their teacher, Ronald A. Koster.

Included in the activities for the day was a visit to the Ulster County jail and the criminal investigation office of the sheriff's department. This part of the trip, conducted by Sheriff Claude Bell, was more than interesting. Several students were quite amazed when they realized that being in jail isn't much of a social affair.

Chief Clerk Clifford Van Valkenburgh, of the county clerk's office was most helpful, informative as well as entertaining in explaining the type of records on file in his office. He explained procedures for filing and finding information and told several interesting stories dug from the ancient records under his jurisdiction.

The final phase of the trip was conducted by Ulster County District Attorney Corwin. At the courthouse he explained court procedures, including the grand jury procedures in handling up indictments. During a tour of the grand jury room and the courtroom Mr. Corwin also explained court jurisdictions in New York State.

ASK THE DESIGNER

Dear Gaile: I'm getting a bit weary of the mink stole as an evening wrap. But the climate where I live makes a summer wrap of some sort essential. Most of my evening clothes are the short length and many of them have wide skirts. My husband and I do a great deal of entertaining and we are entertained in return. Would you please suggest a wrap other than mink that would look right with my present evening dresses?—Mrs. H. H. D.

Dear Mrs. H. H. D.: Indeed you do need an evening wrap that provides some warmth in that cool California climate. A lined silk stole might be one answer; the silk cost might be another if the skirts of your dresses are not too wide. But the ideal solution, I think, comes from that great American designer, Norman Norell. This is what he advises:

"I feel that a small fur wrap is right for the clothes you describe. But it should be absolutely straight rather than shaped over the shoulders. I think you should consider sable, the cut short and straight like a little towel."

Dear Gaile: My hair is turning gray (I am a widow in my early fifties). I rather like it and think I will probably keep it that way. But I am a little puzzled about colors: I can't continue to wear the colors I've always worn as a brunette. And I certainly don't want to wear those awful sticky pastels. Have you any special advice for me?—Mrs. L. T.

Dear Mrs. L. T.: This is the time for you to blossom out, to experiment. I have talked your question over with designer Richard Cole. He says:

"Pale turquoise and apricot both would be lovely; neither is

by gaile dugas

'sticky'. But you might also consider the really clear blues, the sweetened reds, pinks in a green tone, a really brightened navy and a clear, silver gray.

"For fall, try pumpkin, orange and espresso brown. Do stay clear of the black, navy blue and dull gray trap. Garnet or emerald jewelry would be beautiful with your silvery hair. To get the full effect of any one color you would like to wear, try on a hat in that exact shade. This will tell you if it is right with your skin and hair."

Please send your fashion problems to Gaile Dugas in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Why did you shoot the man's dog? asked the justice of a western court. He says the animal was perfectly quiet and never disturbed anyone.
Well, no, admitted the defendant. I've never heard him howl in all his life, but he always looked as if he was just going to. He would come out into the yard a dozen times a night, squat down, look at the moon, draw his breath, open his mouth and fix himself for a howl from here to Jericho, then change his mind, crawl under the porch, and go to sleep. No, I never heard him howl, but the suspense was killing me.

Even Pessimism Fails on Hand to two clubs. South was off the hook and he passed gladly, but North put him back on the hook with a further take out double of East's two club bid.

South wanted to pass this bid and let East romp in two clubs, but South was a good partner and knew that it was up to him to bid.

A two spade call was the least of the evils facing him and needless to say South was really unhappy when North jumped right to game.

Usually the pessimism of a player with a hand like South's is fully realized in the final result and this time would have been no exception if East and West had been looking into South's hand, but they weren't and everything turned out for the best.

East overtook his partner's queen of clubs with the king and continued with the ace and jack.

South ruffed with the jack of spades; drew trumps with four leads; and ran off five diamond tricks to make his contract.

Will Terrify Shark

WASHINGTON (AP)—A "bubble curtain" — used to discourage sharks from ocean beach areas—will not stop the tiger shark, a group of scientists said Sunday.

The "bubble curtain" is created by pumping air through a perforated pipe or hose on the bottom of the water areas. The theory is that it will terrify the sharks and they will not swim through the bubbles.

A report rejecting this idea was issued Sunday by the American Institute of Biological Sciences, the American Museum of Natural History, the Office of Naval Research and Cornell University. Among the scientists participating was Dr. Perry W. Gilbert, Cornell Zoologist.

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Has marriage changed Jimmy Durante? No, I'm happy to report. He is still the same suave, lovable, gregarious self.

"I ain't changed none," he commented over breakfast. "I still do the same things I used to. The only difference now is I got me two houses. Two houses! I must be outa my mind!"

When Jimmy married his long-time girlfriend Marge Little last December, he had a house and she had a house. Hers was a spanking modern up in the hills, his was a tile-roof traditional in the heart of Beverly Hills. They still have them: his and hers, each with a swimming pool.

"It's the only thing we argue about," Jimmy lamented. "She don't wanna move outa her place. I can't move all my junk up dere. What am I goin' to do with all the plaques, all the photographs I got? I got no place to put 'em." So far it's a standoff. Every morning, Jimmy leaves the hilltop home for the 10-minute drive to the Beverly Drive house. The maid serves him breakfast and he conducts business from the house. After a day of appointments and rehearsals, he returns to the home on the hill.

"Sometimes I come down here for a shower," Jimmy related. "That makes Marge mad. 'Why can't you take one here?' she sez. I happen to like the shower in this house. I'm used to it."

Jimmy was in town briefly before leaving for a date at Harrah's Lake Tahoe. He has been traveling during most of his marriage thus far. He was on a night club tour and went to Italy for a cameo role in an Italian film, "The Last Judgment."

"Marge went to Italy with me and to New York and Miami," he said, "but the rest of the time she stays home. What's she gonna do in Cincinnati? And besides, when she's not here, that means we got two houses empty. Ridiculous!"

Jimmy was surprised to find himself recognized wherever he went in Italy—"An' I ain't made a film in eight-nine years."

The movie-making was quite an experience. "I just worked free days in the pitchuh. I play a guy who goes around sayin' the world's goin' to come to an end."

The director is this guy (Vittorio) Disica an' he's great. The only trouble was everybody else was talkin' Italian. So there was a minute wait between when they finished their lines and I realized it was time for mine."

Jimmy's experience with Italian food put him in the hospital here for a checkup. "The food is great, but I can't take it no more," he said sadly.

He was breakfasting on a pill, prune juice, boiled eggs, toast and tea. That would suffice until dinner. Marge is a good cook, he said, but she gets little chance to

Eichmann Assists Prosecutors at Israeli Session

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — Adolf Eichmann is helping his Israeli prosecutors by calling their attention to gaps in the parade of documents submitted against him.

The Israeli prosecution, accusing Eichmann with primary responsibility in the Nazi pogrom of Europe's Jews, has presented 800 exhibits so far, some of them containing multiple documents.

Eichmann, bald and saturnine at 55, has kept a running account of them all in his glass-enclosed dock.

But trial sources disclosed the defendant has not been satisfied with the presentation of papers drawn from the Gestapo's files.

"He has been sending his own written notes through his counsel to the prosecution, insisting on having documents we do not have," a prosecution source said.

"We have gotten them lately, almost every day. When we check back we find he is right and something is missing. Then we check what is missing and most often find a document he would be far better off had it been forgotten. In a curious way he is helping us keep our own files in order."

display her ability. His dinner is a small steak or piece of chicken. Cornflakes at bedtime round out his frugal diet.

Despite this, he keeps going at full energy through the day and into the night. Even during breakfast, he answered a succession of phone calls. One of them was from Marge, up on the hill. "She sez, 'Git rid of da house,'" Jimmy reported.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

The month of May brings out discussion on parades. Going back to June 21, 1928, we had one of our big parades. It was the large convention of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, over 104 companies with 60 bands involving 8,000 men marched in the parade. It was efficiently arranged by chairman, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy. Chief of Police J. Allan Wood, directed the force of some 75 assistants.

Perhaps some of the readers remember this well organized parade. They had a patrolman on every intersection, also a number of state police to clear all lines of march, of traffic. Even the trolley cars were sent home to the car barn. March covered the full width of the street, and it took some two hours and 15 minutes to cover a given point. It was during May or Edgar J. Dempsey's administration. Each division was headed by mounted men in uniform. Mickey Hustla led the fourth division on a white charger. It was an exciting parade as all parades should be. There were only two hand drawn fire wagons, the Weiner Hose and Union Hose. The entire parade was an extravaganza of perfect showmanship enjoyed tremendously by all.

Going back to Friday, August 24, 1883, was another exciting parade, so it seems from the description. There were lots of flags all along Union Avenue, which is Broadway now. They had all kinds of stands and shows. Horse cars went double every five minutes, with "No Standing Room." Chief Engineer Richard Mooney and his aides kept galloping up and down the avenue. O'Reilly Grove, now the High School lawn, and City Hall lawn were packed with people.

This being the Civil War 100th Anniversary year, perhaps we will yet have a parade of historical aspect. I do hope that all the graves of the Civil War dead buried around here, have markers stating that they were Civil War veterans. I understand some are not. I do not know who is in charge of such affairs. I feel this year is very important to gather historical data on local Civil War heroes, veterans, and battles and other

Indians, Cubs Score Wins in NLL Openers

Shults Paint Indians white-washed the VFW Pirates, 7-0, and the Callahan Cubs nipped the Canfield Electric Braves, 10-9, in opening games of the Kingston National Little League season Saturday at Shults stadium.

Steve Bates hurled a four-hitter for the Indians. His mates collected only two safeties but ten walks aided them in the decision. Jerry Longendyke had three of the losers' four safeties, all singles.

The Braves scored twice in the top of the seventh but the Cubs came back to score three runs and squeak by in their wild and woolly affair.

Jerry Lindsay and Barry Lindsay shared pitching chores for the winners while Wayne Corcoran and Tom Saripaugh opposed them.

Catcher Ray Lindhorst had a double and two singles for the Cubs while Frank Stapleton doubled for the Braves. Prior to the doubleheader, opening day ceremonies took place. Joe Kelly, city editor of the Kingston Freeman, was master of ceremonies. Mayor Edwin F. Radel represented the city and fourth ward alderman Larry Woerner and supervisor Joe Turck also spoke. Representing the ladies auxiliary was Mrs. Josephine Primo.

Guest speaker was Ed Paladino of the Freeman Sports Staff. He told parents to lend a helping hand to Little League baseball because without the support of the adults, Little League baseball will cease to function as well as it does now. The line scores:

With a 5-0 deficit to overcome, the Owls tallied three times to rock starter Bobby Hazenbush from the box in favor of Jerry Corrado. He picked up the win. The Owls knotted the count, 6-6, before the Wrens went on a scoring orgy in the final two innings.

A rally by the losers was snuffed out on a spectacular diving catch in left field by Willis Locke.

Muhlich Sets Losers Down After A Rocky Start

Pushing five runs across the dish in a wild fifth inning, Onteora Central shocked Saugerties, 9-8, in a baseball contest Saturday at Dietz stadium.

The Indians, who now have a 2-8 mark on the season, trailed by an 8-4 margin starting the fifth and Mike Fury, Saugerties starter, looked like a winner.

Joe DiGiovanni began the inning by drawing a walk and Bob Pleasants rifled a double. Coach Bill Straub then derailed Fury in starter of Billy Eckhoff. He couldn't get anybody out.

A single by Len Muhlich, a double by Dick Bartsch and Jay Gordon's walk, coupled with three wild pitches, finished Eckhoff and Fury had to be summoned to close out the inning. He had gone to third base.

The Sawyers, who had only nine players in uniform, tallied early off Muhlich getting runs in the first and then in the third, fourth and fifth. The right-hander settled down in the final two innings and finished with a flourish, striking out the side in the seventh.

Saugerties had won five straight during the week and has a 10-4 record.

Fastest Field In '500' History

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Thirty-two American auto racing veterans and British road racing champion Jack Brabham will make up the fastest field ever lined up in the 50-year-old 500-mile auto race May 30.

A record qualifying average of 145.302 miles an hour was set in two weekends of qualifying that ended Sunday.

Last year's Memorial Day field set the previous record of 144.070 and 18 of its starters would not have made the program for this year's golden anniversary race.

Eight newcomers, including Brabham, helped boost the average for the 10-mile tests.

Eddie Sachs of Center Valley, Pa., who has failed to finish in four Memorial Day starts, was the fastest qualifier of the two weekends with a 147.251 on opening day, good for $2,200 and the No. 1 starting position a week from Tuesday.

Dodgers Sweep San Francisco; Tribe Shuts Out Twins Twice

Yanks, Birds Split Two Games; Tigers Win, 5-3

Cleveland took over undisputed possession of second place in the American League, 3 1/2 games behind Detroit, by handing Minnesota a double shutout, 9-0 and 2-0 in Sunday's doubleheader.

Washington jumped from eighth to sixth place with a 6-2 and 7-2 sweep from Los Angeles. New York moved into third place, past Minnesota, dividing a doubleheader with Baltimore. The Yankees won the opener 4-2 and the Orioles the second game 3-2.

Detroit defeated Kansas City 5-3 in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was postponed until tonight because of rain. Chicago's White Sox nipped Boston 6-5 in 10 innings of their first game. The Red Sox came back to win the nightcap 4-1 behind rookie Art Schwall, who was making his major league debut.

The five hits made by Minnesota were only two more than the fewest made by an American League club in a doubleheader. The Indians collected 28 in the twin bill, six by Johnny Temple, who took over the league's batting lead with .360. The only thing Minnesota fans had to cheer about was Lennie Green, who hit safely in each game to extend his hitting streak through 18 games.

Steve Boros, rookie third baseman, drove in four Detroit runs with a single double and home run to help Larry win his seventh game in eight decisions. Kansas City southpaw Bud Daley lost his fifth.

Whitey Ford, helped by Roger Maris' fourth home run in as many games, and seventh of the season, won his fifth game for the Yankees in the opener against Baltimore. Steve Barber, Baltimore southpaw, helped win his own game with a two-run single in the seventh after Yankee receiver John Blanchard dropped Gene Stephens' two-out foul pop.

Art Schwall, a 23-year-old, 6-4 right-hander summoned from Seattle, made his major league debut a winning one as he pitched the Red Sox to a 4-1 triumph over the White Sox. Gary Geiger's two-run homer and a couple of sparkling catches featured the Red Sox victory. The White Sox won the opener on Jim Landis' two-run homer in the 10th inning.

Washington jumped from eighth to sixth with its double triumph over Los Angeles. Willie Tasby's two-run double broke a 2-2 tie in the opener and Chuck Hinton drove in four runs in the second game with two singles and his first major league home run. Dale Long, Billy Klaus and Tasby homered for the Senators in the second game. Right-hander Bennie Daniels and left-hander Hal Woodeshick posted the victories.

Rebels, Chicks Win 'Y' Softball Games

Bob Kent pitched the Rebels to a 9-0 win over the Yankees and the Chicks outscored the Astronauts, 10-5, in YMCA Softball league games Saturday at the Smith Avenue athletic field. The Rebels and Chicks are tied with 2-1 marks while the Yankees and Astronauts have 1-2 records.

Koufax Halts NL Leaders as 41,495 Watch

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers won their third straight from San Francisco Sunday, 3-2, and moved into a virtual first place tie with the Giants in the National League pennant race.

St. Louis, led by Stan Musial, who drove in five runs with a home run, double and single, snapped a six-game losing streak, sweeping a pair from Chicago 6-3 and 3-0.

Pittsburgh watched Philadelphia score nine runs in the third inning, then came back to defeat the Phillies 13-11, as Don Hoak drove in five runs, the last two with a bases-loaded single in the ninth.

Cincinnati nipped Milwaukee 7-6 on pinch hitter Gus Bell's ninth inning double, then lost the second game 3-2 when Vada Pinson was nipped at the plate in the ninth inning.

A home crowd of 41,495 saw the Giants drop their third straight one-run decision to the Dodgers. Sandy Koufax held the Giants to four hits for his fourth victory. Los Angeles got only seven off loser Billy Loes but two of them were home runs—by Johnny Roseboro and Jim Gilliam—accounting for all the runs in the fifth.

The Phillies scored nine runs in the third but the Pirates struck back, finally tying the score 9-9 on Don Hoak's three-run homer in the sixth. It was 11-11 in the ninth when Hoak singled with the bases loaded to drive in the winning runs. Pittsburgh used seven pitchers and the Phils made five errors to give the Pirates seven unearned runs.

Henry Aaron slammed a two-run homer, his sixth of the season, to give the Braves their split with Cincinnati. The Reds won the opener in the ninth when Eddie Kasko singled and scored on a double by pinch hitter Gus Bell. Cincinnati almost pulled out the second game in the ninth. They made it 3-2 on Gene Freese's homer to knock out starter Carl Wiley.

Relief pitcher Claude Raymond yielded singles to Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson but Pinson was nipped at the plate.

Yallum's Kings Take 2nd Straight City Win

Mike Amato pitched a 4-hitter and collected two hits, as Yallum's Kings nipped Hilltop Rest, 4-3, for their second straight victory in the City Softball League Sunday.

In the other game, Anchorage Rest drubbed Nadler Motors, 10 to 2, behind the five-hit pitching of Mike Boyle, who collected a double and two singles among the 14 Anchorage safeties off W. C. Lindsey.

Yallums were outbait by Hilltop, 6-4, as George Norton went the distance. Joe Tremper slammed a home run for the winners and Dick Lasher collected three singles for Hilltop.

Anchorage hit Lindsey, the strikeout artist, freely and scored in six straight turns at bat. By the end of the second they were ahead, 6-2. Rod Whittaker powered a double and homer for Anchorage. Cliff Schwark and Jay Bertha had a single and double apiece and Ted Beland two singles.

Fireworks Cause Arrest of Men At Ellenville

Two arrests were made by Ellenville state police Saturday night for possession of firecrackers.

Troopers Michael Mahoney and Edward Whalen were cruising in front of the Ship's Galley, Accord, Saturday evening when they observed a youth apparently preparing to shoot some firecrackers.

They arrested Harold Williams, 19, of Accord.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Abram Smith, entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in jail (suspended).

A little later Joseph Hildebrand, 23, of Nanonoch, was picked up by the troopers on a charge of possession of firecrackers.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Frank Muller and fined $10.

Reapportionment

ty Democratic Committee victory dinner that he doesn't think New York "...can any longer afford a governor who considers the job as nothing more than a convenient stepping-stone for running for the presidency."

Lindsay, speaking at the state Young Republican convention in Saratoga Springs, said Rockefeller had led the state in a "program of achievement in important areas of education and health." The Young Republicans passed resolutions praising Rockefeller and the Legislature, and re-elected officers.

Also praising the Republican governor was Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson. He said Rockefeller had aided local governments in increasing state financial assistance for urban renewal projects. Wilson spoke at the 50th anniversary dinner of the North Side Improvement League in Watertown Saturday.

But Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast said Rockefeller was employing "power plays" in the hunt for a Republican candidate to run this fall for mayor of New York City.

In Jamestown, meanwhile, Republican National Chairman Thurston B. Morton asked President Kennedy to assert strong leadership to halt Soviet and Red Chinese imperialism.

"The time for words is past," Morton told a Republican dinner.

"The time for decisiveness, strength and sound stands and moves has come."

Prendergast, in a statement issued Saturday in New York City, said "Rockefeller's futile attempts to fashion a fusion ticket out of Republican confusion in New York City have further lowered the all-time low status of the Republican Party."

There are more health insuring organizations operating in Texas than any other state. These include 379 insurance companies, two Blue Cross-Blue Shield and Medical Society plans, and 14 other insuring plans.

Mrs. Raymond LeFever of Bloomington, a prominent Ulster County Republican, has been elected a director of the Third Judicial District of the New York State Women's Republican Club.

Mrs. LeFever is president of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club and vice-chairman of the Ulster County Republican Central Committee. She is also a member of the executive board of the Town of Rosendale Republican Club.

There are 10 such directorships in New York State, running for two-year terms. It becomes effective June 1.

As a director Mrs. LeFever becomes available to any club, serving as liaison between club, district and state. She will work closely with club presidents, handle problems arising within her district, assist in club organization and training programs, etc.

Mrs. LeFever, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Feltman of Walton, has been active in Republican circles since becoming a resident of Ulster County.

5 Fire Officials Quit Their Posts Have No Comment

An internal conflict which has resulted in the resignation of the fire chief and four fire officers of the Highland Fire Department was still unresolved this morning.

When queried by The Freeman, Chairman Royal C. Reed of the Highland Board of Fire Commissioners, replied, "I got no comments for nothing."

Those resigning were Chief Frank Tortorella, Deputy Chief John Mandy, Assistant Chief Henry Stellar, Captain Michael Mandy and First Lieutenant Philip Collins.

Reed and Tortorella confirmed the resignations, however.

According to Reed, the commissioners are taking over in the absence of the officers.

Rumor has it that the conflict concerns a dispute between the officers and the board over attendance of volunteers at fires. It was reported unofficially that the fire officers feel if a man misses 10 fires a year he should lose his active status.

Only One Injured In Three Weekend Mishaps Reported

Nine persons were involved in three weekend traffic mishaps reported by Kingston state police. Only one injury was reported, a two-year-old girl, who was treated at the hospital and released, and one driver was fined $10 for failure to keep right.

In a two-car collision at Glasco Four Corners 7:15 p. m. Saturday, Theresa Forte suffered head injuries, was treated at Benedictine Hospital and released.

Joseph Forte, 33, father of the child, and a member of the military band at West Point was driving one car with his wife, Theresa Forte, 32, of 16 Deyo Street, Kingston, as passenger.

Mrs. Josephine Sagendorf, 39, of 168 TenBroeck Avenue, driving the other vehicle, a 1959 sedan, was proceeding south on Route 32 at Glasco Four Corners when in collision with the Forte 1955 sedan traveling west on Glasco Turnpike. No other injuries were reported, according to Trooper T. J. Morrissey.

No one was reported injured in a one-car mishap 7:45 p. m. Sunday on the Dave Elliott Road, west of Kings Highway, Asbury, reported by Trooper Richard Ryan.

Irving Dean Jr., 24, of Uniondale, driving a 1957 sedan owned by Irving Dean Sr., was arrested for failure to keep right. He paid a $10 fine before Saugerties Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers.

The Dean vehicle with Harry Dean, 18, of Malden, as passenger was traveling east on the Dave Elliott Road, when the car went off the north side of the road into a ditch and rolled over, troopers said. The car was described by troopers as a total loss.

No one was reported injured in another mishap Sunday at 11:20 p. m. on Route 32 near the intersection of the south-bound entrance to the Thruway at Saugerties, troopers reported.

A 1953 sedan operated by Schmork Tashjian, 56 of Lexington, Greene County was proceeding south on Route 32, turned left to enter the Thruway, and was in collision with a 1956 sedan operated by Ronald Skrypec, 26, of Meriden, Conn. The Skrypec vehicle was traveling north on Route 32. Both cars were damaged on the front end, according to Trooper Richard Ryan.

Most Vehicles

According to estimates, more than 65 per cent of the more than 118,885,000 motor vehicles registered in the world are in the United States.

Two Hurt in City Traffic Mishaps

Two persons were reported slightly injured in two city traffic mishaps Sunday. A report at 8:55 a. m., said Paul Stout, 44, of Tampa, Fla., reported a back injury, when a trailer truck driven by Parks David Dampson, 36, of Hillsboro, Fla., struck a no-parking sign, at Wurts and Union streets.

One earlier Sunday morning, said Glen Miller, 18, of Phoenix, suffered a slight cut under the chin in a two-car mishap at North Front and Wall Street. Police said the car driven by Miller collided with the rear of one operated by John F. White, 19, of Box 7, Woodstock, after it had stopped on North Front Street near Wall.

Split Reported In South Korea's New Government

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A split was reported in South Korea's new military government today over the division of power among the military services.

A competent source said marines and paratroopers who took over Seoul last Tuesday and were the shock troops of the coup refused an order Saturday to withdraw from the Capitol building and return to their camps outside Seoul.

The marines and paratroopers reportedly demanded more places on the 30-member revolutionary council, which except for a marine brigadier general and colonel consists entirely of army officers. There is also a marine colonel in the cabinet of 15 officers that was sworn in Sunday.

U. S. Gen. Carter B. Magruder, under whose U. N. command all South Korean forces are placed, reportedly demanded Saturday that all the 3,600 troops used in the coup return to their original stations.

Order to Move Out
The order to move out was issued by Lt. Gen. Chang Do-yung, the junta chief who also is premier, defense minister and army chief of staff.

Although the marines and paratroopers furnished the troops for the coup, the composition of the revolutionary council and the cabinet reflected the relative strength of South Korea's armed forces.

Unofficial estimates put the army at 500,000 men, including 3,000 paratroopers, the marines and air force at 15,000 each and the navy 10,000.

Despite the reported rift, the new military regime pressed ahead vigorously.

Foreign Minister Kim Hong-il, a retired lieutenant general, said Gen. Chang sent a letter to President Park Chung-hee.

Dutchess May Be Linked to Other Voting District
According to Dutchess County Republican Committee Chairman Robert J. Blinn there is a "good chance" Dutchess County, which has been grouped with Ulster, Columbia, Greene and Schoharie counties for nearly 20 years as the 29th Congressional District, may be grouped with Putnam and Orange counties when the legislature meets late this year to reapportion seats in the House.

This shuffle, Blinn said, could come about as a result of the merging of Albany and Schenectady districts, and the reassignment of their bordering counties. Schoharie borders both Schenectady and Albany, while Greene County borders Albany County.

Since the Democratic candidate Gore Vidal last fall dug deeply into the usually heavy Republican vote in Dutchess County, former Dutchess County G.O.P. Chairman Aspbury has hinted he might try to promote a Dutchess County man for Congress in 1962. In commenting on the thought of a Dutchess County candidate should Dutchess County remain in the 29th Congressional District, Chairman Blinn said it was "too early to make plans" and suggested waiting to see what the legislature does before opposing Congressmen J. Ernest Wharton.

BULLETIN

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro is prepared to exchange political prisoners in Cuba for what he calls political prisoners in the United States and Central America, Havana radio said today.

Castro also reportedly threatened to call off the bulldozers-for-prisoners negotiations if the United States "persists in referring to it as an exchange."

"This is an indemnification and not an exchange," he reportedly told Prensa Latina, the Cuban news agency.

Meeting Arranged
WASHINGTON (AP)—Cuban rebels arranged a meeting with their American benefactors today to discuss Fidel Castro's ransom terms for 124 men captured in the Cuban invasion failure.

Eleanor Roosevelt, Dr. Milton Eisenhower and union leader Walter Reuther head a drive to raise millions of dollars to purchase 500 American tractors or bulldozers demanded by the Cuban prime minister in exchange for the prisoners.

Mrs. Roosevelt is the widow of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt; Dr. Eisenhower is president of Johns Hopkins University and brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower; Reuther is president of the United Automobile Workers Union.

To Meet in Afternoon
They were scheduled to meet this afternoon with 10 representatives of the prisoners; Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, chairman of the Revolutionary Council, and council member Antonio de Varona. The 10 representatives were paroled by the Cuban government to work out arrangements to free them and their companions.

The sons of both Miro Cardona and De Varona are among the prisoners held by Castro.

The State Department had said Saturday the government would give "most sympathetic consideration" to granting export licenses if the tractors are purchased by private funds.

The United States has broken diplomatic relations with Cuba and exports of machinery to Cuba normally are not permitted.

Although Reuther said no funds would be accepted or solicited until after today's meeting, donations and offers of money poured in.

Robert Berrellez, Associated Press correspondent just returned from imprisonment in Cuba, said the offer was "another propaganda trick. It's a form of political blackmail."

Castro ran into sharp criticism from the press in Latin America and scattered Latin American organizations began fund raising drives to help buy the tractors.

Federal Aid to Education Will Be Pushed This Week
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate resumes debate today on President Kennedy's federal aid to education bill with leaders pushing for passage by mid-week. This promises to be the major action on the President's program in Congress this week.

However, Senate leaders also hoped to put through the $4.99 billion housing bill approved by the Banking Committee last week. This carries out all of Kennedy's recommendations in the field.

Both the housing and school aid bills are on the "big five" list discussed by the President before he took office.

Two of these, depressed areas and minimum wage, already have been signed by Kennedy. The fifth

Hate Bus Is Sent To South

Communism, Race Mixing Targets

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—The American Nazi party sent a "hate bus" South today in a protest against communism and race mixing.

George Lincoln Rockwell, the party head, said eight of his followers were aboard the bus and four others in a command car en route to New Orleans to picket the premier of the movie "Exodus" and the New Orleans office of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The group asked federal protection from "Jew and Negro hoodlums."

Gives Route
The private bus bore signs identifying it as "Lincoln Rockwell's Hate Bus" and proclaiming "We do hate communism and race mixing."

Rockwell said the bus would pass through Richmond, Va., Raleigh, Charlotte and Greenville N.C., Atlanta, Ga., Birmingham, Montgomery and Mobile, Ala., and Poplarville, Miss. He said John Patler of New York City, in charge of the trip, would speak in public parks in Charlotte, Atlanta, Montgomery and Mobile. Otherwise, he said, the vehicles will stop only for gasoline until reaching New Orleans Tuesday night.

To Join Delegation
Rockwell plans to fly to New Orleans Tuesday to join the delegation.

The American Nazi party recently was granted a charter by the State of Virginia. The organization's goals, as stated in the charter, include "the gaining of political power in the United States by all legal means and elective processes" and "the education of the American public to suppressed facts concerning the Communist conspiracy to destroy us and the white race."

Controls Issue May Be Theme

By DORIAN FALK
GENEVA (AP)—The perennial dispute between the West and the Soviet Union on the issue of controls to enforce international agreements is expected to throw its long shadow over the meeting between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev.

Western diplomats in Geneva feel that this stumbling block of virtually all East-West negotiations since World War II may well be a central theme of the Kennedy-Khrushchev talks in Vienna next month.

The Western idea that in the absence of mutual confidence, East and West must provide for safeguards to prevent violations of agreements, has dominated all attempts to end the cold war.

The issue of controls has prevented progress in 13 years of disarmament negotiations. It has slowed down the three-power test ban talks here. It cropped up again at the start of the conference on Laos.

The West feels the policing of any agreement between the two camps is vital to Western security. Communist leaders contend that the Western governments will use international control machinery as a front for legalized spying on the Communist countries.

Arthur H. Dean, the U.S. delegate to the three-power nuclear test ban talks, returned to Washington Sunday to report to President Kennedy on the Soviet intransigence on the matter of test ban controls.

Before his departure Dean once again criticized the new Soviet demand for a veto over the day-to-day operation of the proposed test ban control system.

In Vienna, Western diplomats believe, Kennedy will seek a clear answer from Premier Khrushchev on the issue of international control and inspection. They expect the President to sound out Khrushchev on whether there is any chance the Kremlin will ever agree to the Western concept of veto-free controls.

More Births Less Deaths In NY State

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The birth rate increased in New York State during the first quarter of 1961 and the death rate was the lowest in four years, the State Health Department said today.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner, said there were 89,241 births during the first three months of this year. The record high for the quarter occurred in 1949 when 89,305 births were registered.

The birth rate for the 1961 first quarter was 21.2 per 1,000 population, compared with 20.8 in the first three months of 1960.

The death rate in the state during the first quarter of this year was 11.1. There were 46,737 deaths, compared with 47,555 in 1960. The infant mortality rate, 24.1, was the lowest for a first quarter since 1956.

Catholic Veterans Elect Officers, Vote Resolutions

The new state commander of the Catholic War Veterans is Francis X. McBarron of Brooklyn who served as first vice commander last year.

A World War II lieutenant, who entered the army as a private, was elected Saturday at the 26th annual convention of the Department of New York, CWV, held at the Governor Clinton Hotel for three days starting Friday.

Election was also held by the Department Ladies' Auxiliary and Mrs. Elsie Krebs of Queens County was chosen to again serve as president of the state organization.

Write to Legislators
Highlight of the convention was Saturday night's dinner at which Frank Votto, director of New York State Veterans Affairs, stressed the importance of veterans writing to legislators on matters of government calling for their votes, pro or con.

Immediate past commander of the CWV is Augustus J. Poletto of Albany County.

During the Saturday session various resolutions were passed as follows:

Support Freedom Academy
Supporting the senate bill authorizing formation of a President's Commission on noxious and obscene material.

Supporting the establishment of a Freedom Academy as proposed in current bill.

Opposing the giving to the World Court by the U. S. any right, power or jurisdiction to decide which are the domestic and what are the international issues and favoring retention of the Connolly Amendment (Sen. Thomas Connolly of Texas).

Reapportionment Among Many Issues Discussed by Leaders Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Reapportionment, next year's gubernatorial election, this year's New York mayoral election and President Kennedy's leadership were controversial issues included in a weekend of politics reminiscent of mid-season campaigning.

Democratic and Republican leaders hurled charges and counter-charges in speeches and statements to news media.

Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse, in a statement Sunday on reapportionment of the state's congressional districts, promised the people "a fair vote" and "sufficient time" to consider the plan.

New York City, which showed a population loss of 1.4 per cent, probably would lose three seats in the reapportionment, and the fourth seat would come from the Upstate area, Morhouse said.

The reapportionment of the state's congressional delegation, which means a reduction from 43 to 41 members, is a result of the 1960 federal census. The Republican-controlled Legislature will take up the issue at a special session in the fall.

Republicans reportedly are considering merging the 30th district, represented by Democrat Leo W. O'Brien of Albany, and the 32nd District, represented by Democrat Samuel S. Stratton.

Morhouse said in his statement that the "small Democratic cries of 'gerrymander' should be recognized for what they are—hollow political attacks to conceal the absence of any constructive contribution to the task of realigning the districts."

Meanwhile, Stratton, who angrily protested the Republican plans, and who is mentioned as a possible contender for the Democratic nomination for governor, turned his sights Saturday on Gov. Rockefeller.

While Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., was telling the state Young Republican Clubs that Rockefeller would win by more than the 570,000-vote plurality the GOP governor gained in 1958, Stratton was telling Democrats Rockefeller could be beaten.

Martial Rule Is Declared

1,000 Negroes Are Kept in Church

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—This historic city was quiet but tense today—a sharp contrast to bloody racial rioting which brought martial rule.

Armed National Guardsmen patrolled the Greyhound bus station and a Negro church where Sunday night's main outbreak of violence took place. Others patrolled the downtown sector and its fringes in jeeps.

Federal deputies sent in over the weekend also were seen on the streets.

Try to Burn Houses
Sporadic outbreaks of trouble, including two house burning attempts, had continued for hours after steel-helmeted soldiers with fixed bayonets took command.

An estimated 1,000 Negro worshippers returned home quietly in the predawn hours after spending most of the night in a church auditorium in protective custody. A mob had tried to get at them, but by 5 a. m. the church area was deserted except for 25 National Guardsmen left on guard duty.

Think Trouble Over
"We don't anticipate any further trouble here," said a National Guard officer.

Among the churchgoers were 18 of the freedom bus riders whose arrival in Montgomery Saturday touched off repeated attacks by club-swinging white men and women. The so-called "freedom riders" were testing Alabama's bus segregation laws.

Negroes remained in the bus-riding group after the lone white man among them was savagely beaten and sent to a hospital and two white girls also mauled by the surging mob Saturday morning, were sent home by train.

20 Are Clubbed
In all, some 20 victims were clubbed and smashed to the ground with fists in two hours of rioting near the Greyhound bus station.

After 18 hours of a jittery quiet, another screaming, brick-throwing mob struck Sunday night against the Negroes jam-packed into a church to greet the "freedom riders" and hear the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. condemn the city for what he called Hitler-like barbarism.

It was the Sunday night uprising which provoked Gov. John M. Patterson to proclaim "qualified martial rule" and give troops under Adj. Gen. Henry V. Graham sweeping powers to take whatever action necessary to restore order.

The governor previously had protested bitterly against U. S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy's order to rush more than 300 armed troops to the city.

Succumbs on Stage

NEW YORK (AP)—Songwriter-performer Joe Howard, who died taking a bow in Chicago Friday night, will be buried in a mausoleum engraved with the musical notes of one of his songs: "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now."

The private burial will take place Tuesday or Wednesday in Calvary Cemetery, Long Island City. There will be no funeral service.

Howard, 82, collapsed during the curtain call on the stage of the Chicago Civic Opera House during a benefit performance. He wrote more than 500 songs.

Montgomery

U. S. marshals and deputies to Montgomery to prevent further interference with the bus riders.

Threatens to Jail Them In a tense, face-to-face meeting with Kennedy's top assistant, Byron R. White, the state's chief executive threatened to jail federal officers who sought to exert their authority in the absence of a request for federal help.

Patterson in his proclamation of martial law still insisted that the self-styled "freedom riders"—he called them "agitators"—were to blame for the race rioting because of their insistence on testing bus station racial barriers.

But, he decreed, "there now exists . . . a serious emergency, a danger to the constitution and laws of Alabama, a state of lawlessness . . . which the local officers are unable to subdue."

Despite angry federal-state bickering earlier in the day, U.S. officers worked alongside city and state police and the battle-trained guardsmen after Patterson ordered out the troops.

Even the bus riders won a reprieve from the threat of arrest on charges of violating a state court injunction which had sought to stop them from riding a bus here from Birmingham.

Assumes Sheriff's Duties

Sheriff's deputies holding contempt of court warrants turned over to Col. Herman Price, who assumed the military office of sheriff under the martial rule.

Gen. Graham, entering the Negro church after the National Guardsmen arrived, ordered them there through the night for their protection while troops patrolled the streets.

Outside, scattered pockets of resistance to the law-and-order decree released their pent-up fury. They overturned a parked automobile, tossed a rock at a police car, sent police chasing down roads, and shot fired at Negro houses.

Fire Bombs Thrown Fire bombs were thrown at the home of a Negro and a young white restaurant owner who nearly two years ago killed another white man after a wrangle with the Ku Klux Klan. The admitted slayer, who claimed self-defense, was acquitted by a jury.

While the rioting raged at the Negro church, the mob surged past federal marshals and city and state police, tossing rocks and bricks. Several persons were injured, but none seriously.

The main force of the crowd had been blunted by tear gas when National Guardsmen rumbled up in Army trucks.

While state authorities held warrants for the arrest of the "freedom riders" on contempt citations, a federal court injunction went into effect over the weekend to protect interstate bus riders from further interference.

Prince Pursues Peacemaker Role

GENEVA (AP)—Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian chief of state, today pursued the role of peacemaker for Laos and invited the three rival Laotian princes to negotiate in Geneva for a coalition government.

Sihanouk issued the invitations through the separate Laotian delegations sent to the 14-nation conference that opened last week to pacify and neutralize the strife-plagued country of Southeast Asia.

The three princes involved are Boun Oum, recognized by the West and Laotian King Savang Vatthana as premier; Prince Souvanna Phouma, so-called neutral leader recognized as the legal premier by the Soviet bloc; and Prince Souphanouvong, head of the Communist-guided Pathet Lao forces.

Efforts to get the three Laotian factions to combine into one coalition government were begun several days ago in Laos itself in talks behind the Pathet Lao lines. These negotiations, in the village of Ban Namone, have stalled.

The Cambodian prince and a number of other delegates at the conference regard the Soviet bloc and Communist advances can and will be opposed.

Johnson said he came away from Asia "strengthened and encouraged."

"I believe the world will be better tomorrow than it is today," he declared.

After an overnight rest stop in Athens, Johnson and his party were flying today to Bermuda, with a refueling stop en route in the Azores.

In Bermuda, the vice president will wind up his report and recommendations to President Kennedy. He flies to Washington on Wednesday.

Before taking off, Johnson had a 45-minute meeting with Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis. The two leaders exchanged assurances of unity and support in meeting any threat to Greece's freedom.

Confirming this, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today he is confident that before the week is over the Senate will pass in a form satisfactory to Kennedy a $2.5-billion measure to provide grants for public school construction and teachers salaries.

Previously Kennedy has been active personally in soliciting support in Congress for the kind of legislation he wants. His efforts and those of his staff were particularly noticeable in connection with the minimum wage and unemployment compensation legislation.

Presbyterians Plan to Discuss 4-Church Merger

By GEORGE W. CORNELL Associated Press Religion Writer BEUFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The United Presbyterian Church decided today to open talks for unification with the Episcopal Church, the Methodist and the United Church of Christ.

The historic action was approved with a booming voice vote at the Presbyterian's 173rd General Assembly.

Outcome of the issue had been of keen concern throughout American Protestantism, and also among Roman Catholic leaders.

On the event of the test, a mass ecumenical interdenominational meeting heard an appeal from the Rev. Dr. Robert J. McCracken, of New York City's Riverside church.

"Our unity in essentials is such that we should no longer tolerate purely factious divisions," he said.

Noting that there are 226 separate Protestant religious bodies in this country, he said Christianity can hardly be expected to "heal the divisions of the world when the church itself is so lamentably divided."

The historic proposal for church reunion was made last December by the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, of Philadelphia, the Presbyterians' top administrative officer.

Other denominations, besides the four mentioned, also would be invited to join the negotiations, estimated to take at least 10 days.

Accused Burglar To Face Jurors In County Theft

A former employee of the Center Electric Co., Inc., Ellenville, has been arrested in Brooklyn on a charge of burglary third degree involving a break at the appliance firm Saturday night, May 13.

Thomas Neary, 27, of 2527 East 22nd Street, Brooklyn, was picked up Friday night at his apartment. He was returned to Ulster County by Chief Abel Rand of the Ellenville Police Department and Investigator Michael Lisman, BCI.

Neary was arranged before Justice of the Peace Frank Decker, waived examination and was committed to the Ulster County jail to await action of the grand jury.

On the night of May 13 or the early morning of May 14 a small amount of cash was stolen from a register in the Ellenville electric firm. The burglar also cut open a small steel safe with an acetylene torch but found nothing.

Norman Tennenbaum, one of the owners of the store, discovered the burglary about 8 a. m. Sunday when he arrived at the Center Street firm and noticed that the safe was not in the office. He called the village police department.

An investigation disclosed that some $30 to $35 in cash had been taken from a cash register. The safe, about 30 inches high and 24 wide, was found in a workshop in the back of the building. The door of the steel safe had been cut out by an acetylene torch which was kept in the store by the Tennenbaum brothers.

Entrance to the building was gained by removing a small window under a rear platform. Chief Rand said the frame was taken out. The cellar was then entered, the burglar mounting a flight of stairs into the main section of the store.

Chief Rand said there was no money in the safe. Valuable papers were scattered about the workshop but none had apparently been removed.

Resume Efforts To Get Body of Buried Farmer

NAMPA, Idaho (AP)—Rescuers said it would take many more hours today to remove the body of a farmer buried five days ago at the 160-foot level of a 220-foot deep irrigation well near this southwestern Idaho community.

The body of Herbert A. Tieg, 55, was found Sunday night after workers had dug through 18 feet of rock, sand and debris. Tieg was buried in a cave-in last Wednesday as he was plastering the inside of the well.

Workers had to remove sand from the well by hand after two attempts to blow it out with compressed air failed. They were forced to use a bent shovel and a galon can in the two-foot wide hole.

Vogt Announces Co-Chairmen for City CP Campaign

The appointment of co-chairmen for the Cerebral Palsy 1961 fund raising campaign was announced today by city chairman Francis J. Vogt.

Vogt named Mrs. Edward de Groff, Miss Helen Lowe, Mrs. Frank B. Matthews, and Mrs. John Schomer, all of Kingston, as co-chairmen of the "53 Minute March", which alludes to the fact that a child is born with cerebral palsy every 53 minutes in this country.

The Ulster County assistant district attorney said that Mrs. de Groff will coordinate the house-to-house drive in the First, Second, and Fourth Ward; Miss Lowe in the Third, Fifth, Sixth, and 13th Ward; Mrs. Matthews in the Seventh, Eighth, and Ninth Ward; Mrs. Schomer in the 10th, 11th, and 12th Ward.

The ladies currently are recruiting ward chairmen and block workers, and Vogt urged all public spirited residents to join with his co-chairmen to field an effective organization for the house-to-house financing drive.

"It's the physically handicapped children of our community who will benefit from this campaign," Vogt declared. "The funds raised will support the vital work done at the CP Treatment Center right here in Kingston."

He invited all interested parties to come to an "Open House" the evening of May 25th at 400 Broadway, Kingston, and see for themselves why the Treatment Center deserves the support of the community.

A documentary film of the rehabilitation programs currently serving 160 physically handicapped children at the Center will be followed by a tour conducted by the therapy staff. Following the tour of facilities, campaign plans will be outlined for workers, and kits of supporting materials distributed.

Central Merger Reports Denied

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — The Norfolk and Western Railway, now planning to unify with the Nickel Plate and Wabash lines, is not interested in considering a merger study with the New York Central System.

Stuart T. Saunders, president of the Norfolk and Western, rejected an offer by Alfred E. Perlman, president of the New York Central, that the Central be included in the mergers.

Saunders wrote Perlman: "Since breaking off merger negotiations with the Pennsylvania Railroad two years ago, your company has stated time and again that it desires to be affiliated with the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Baltimore & Ohio."

"The only result of such a study was unnecessary and fruitless delay in the accomplishment of a unification which has been carefully planned and overwhelmingly approved by the stockholders of all three railroads."

Says People Forget Creature Comforts

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — "Many Americans are so bemused by the creature comforts that they seem to have forgotten the spirit of personal sacrifice that made this nation great," the national president of the Parent Teachers Association said today.

Mrs. James C. Parker, Grand Rapids, Mich., added, "There is nothing wrong with the creature comforts as such, it is the unrelenting place they hold in relation to the things that are really important."

"And it is time, past time, for this country to recognize those things that are really important."

Mrs. Parker, finishing a three-year term as president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, said in an interview:

"The great concern in this country with the creature comforts is perfectly evident in many cases where school bond issues are voted down. Many of the voters could afford the higher taxes to build schools, but they refuse to pay this most necessary of all their bills."

The 64th annual convention of the national congress opens today.

Seeks More Funds For Upstate Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Area Redevelopment Administration has been asked by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., to help nine economically troubled New York State cities.

Six New York areas — Amsterdam, Auburn, Gloversville, Jamestown-Dunkirk, Ogdensburg, Massena-Malone, and Plattsburgh — already qualify for federal aid under the area development program. Keating said Sunday in a letter to Administrator William J. Batt Jr.

Keating said the Buffalo-Niagara Falls, Utica-Rome, Schenectady-Troy areas, also faced economic difficulties which could qualify them for redevelopment aid under Batt's discretionary authority.

The senator asked for "every possible consideration" in order that they (the areas) can take action as quickly as possible to deal with problems of chronic unemployment.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 22, 1961

NO SOFT SNAPS

Any poll you could take among politicians the country over would probably show they rate being mayor of New York City just about the most thankless job there is.

The man who has it, Robert F. Wagner, may seek it again this year, but under forced draft. His friends make plain he has no taste for the post with its mountain of seemingly unsolvable problems—traffic congestion, crime, city corruption, near-bankruptcy.

Another man, Republican Sen. Jacob Javits, just put on his pressure suit and resisted nine G's of political gravity pull from Richard Nixon, Governor Rockefeller and assorted other leaders who wanted him to make the mayoralty race.

Javits took a good look at New York's chaos and decided the Senate was heaven itself.

As a matter of fact, many of the nation's governorships don't look much more alluring these days. State after state is beset with painful money problems.

Recently Ohio's Gov. Michael DiSalle told President Kennedy he had many days when he didn't think he could stand the job. Reports have it that he's not certain about running again in 1962.

With variations, his story could be repeated in California, Washington state, Michigan, Pennsylvania and quite a few other spots. The author of Pennsylvania's one-term restriction may yet find himself posthumously chosen head of a new Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Politicians.

The one big thing that keeps men bucking for these jobs is the role many of them play in the shifting tides of national political power. Big-state governors commanding huge delegations inevitably pack weight at presidential nominating conventions. A strong New York mayor can affect tens of thousands of votes in the nation's biggest single urban vote cluster.

The GOP leaders were mindful of this when, in a tense New York hotel meeting, they pressed Javits to go. They felt he might win and break the Democratic grip that has held the city since the departure of the fabled Fiorello La Guardia. They hoped thus for a doubleheader sweep of New York City and the New Jersey governorship next Nov. 7. They saw this as a hammer blow well struck for 1962 and beyond.

Unless city and state politics regains some of its old allure, Javits' "no" may foreshadow a developing pattern of reluctance among men tapped to try for the top posts. And over the door of the Senate we may soon see a sign reading: "Snug Harbor."

A TIME FOR CAUTION

While the upward climb of stock prices has suffered a slight interruption, a recent trading session closed with the Dow Jones industrial averages but a fraction away from their all-time high of 692. The experts say the market is now consolidating its position to make a further assault on that figure.

New highs will almost certainly be established this summer, what with the recession bottoming out. Barring some unforeseen catastrophe, few expect prices to go anywhere but up in the next few weeks.

This prospect has caused the heads of America's major stock exchanges to warn the public once again of careless speculation. The key word is "careless." Those who buy stocks naturally assume risks, but in a haphazard buying mood some investors appear to be taking some almost blind risks.

Also, as in any sellers market, if the fish are biting the unscrupulous are inclined to throw out any bait. In this climate the Securities and Exchange Commission has become doubly wary. For example, in one instance it forced a mutual fund to drop the word "growth" from its title, contending that this designation was

'These Days'

A BOLD DEFENSE

By accident I came across the singular fact that the Timken Roller Bearing Company has had the courage to put up a fight for freedom of speech and freedom of the press against the Internal Revenue Service which acts as a censorship agency.

Timken is suing the Government for $1500,000 which it claims it has overpaid for income taxes, the Internal Revenue Service having taken upon itself the duty of deciding that advertising is not a cost of running a business. This expenditure was taxed as though it were profit and not an expense.

The Treasury objects to institutional advertising, that is, the use of advertising space paid to attract attention but delivering a message instead of directly advocating the use of the product.

Institutional advertising is used because the advertiser finds that a message attracts greater attention to the product than boosting the product itself. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has for many years used its advertising space to tell about health. Its object is to prolong life. It is possible to say that the insurance companies are charitable organizations which love mankind and therefore seek to prolong life. On the other hand, these advertisements are keenly read because they are informative and are good business they keep the name of the company before the public in a favorable manner. Whether it is a noble act or a gimmick, it is of value.

In the case of Timken, the Government objected to advertisements which "... hailed the Spirit of Christmas, urged gifts to the United Fund, presenting the company's side of a controversy with a union, and promoting the city in which the company's plant was located in the hope of attracting other employers to the area."

The Internal Revenue Service apparently sets up a censorship of the contents of an advertisement, assuming that it can determine the motive for the employment of the space for something more than directly pushing a product. Timken, I read, sponsored radio broadcasts by Frank Sinatra and Sammy Davis Jr., probably felt that they were enough for one country and left me without a singing voice. I can always tell when another is off-key, but I have been told that I am always off-key. So I cannot do my piece in song which apparently is permissible, particularly if no one understands the words. The Internal Revenue Service's censor must be very weary of such words as moon and June which are deductible because they are not controversial.

Businesses are taxed 52 per cent of net profit. Naturally, the accountants take off expenses of all kinds before they determine the net profit. The President has been appealing for business to provide more jobs, but the Treasury has been taking steps not only to price American goods out of all markets, including the American, but to give the European and Asiatic competitor every possible advantage. This is particularly true as regards expense accounts. A West German salesman can afford to make the prospective customer to feel salubrious and willing by the normal processes of capitalistic sales procedures, namely, an excellent dinner, theatre parties, flowers for the customer's wife, etc., etc. The American salesman is forced to justify his expenditures, providing details of the process, which can be embarrassing. We may be very virtuous but goods will not be sold this way and never were.

Perhaps the Internal Revenue Service needs an advertisement consultant so that someone might know of the developments in forensic business since the days when the principal advertisements were patent medicines and trusses. There has been progress even if the Internal Revenue Service did not hear of it.

★ The Doctor Says ★ What You Should Know About Use of Aspirin

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The latest discovery about aspirin is almost like finding a small oil well in your back yard. For now it seems that this simple drug is capable of lowering the blood sugar in patients with milk diabetes (sugar sickness). It's difficult to figure out why this effect has been overlooked for so long. But I suppose we should be grateful that this important action has come to light at all.

Because of this most recent observation, it may be of practical importance to review some of the important facts about aspirin.

Its chemical name is acetylsalicylic acid. When purchased by its chemical name in five grain tablets, you can buy as many as 500 tablets for much less than a dollar.

Since it's a pure chemical, no one product is any better or any worse than all other products. Its usual dose is five to 10 grains, taken every three or four hours. There is no need to give children any special aspirin. To provide a lesser dose, you merely powder the five grain tablet and give a smaller amount. In the unusual case of the child who can't or won't swallow a powder, you can float the dose in milk or mix it with ice cream.

If you prefer to substitute a liquid product of similar action, you can give teaspoonful doses of Elizir Tempa or Tylenol. Each teaspoonful contains two grains of aminophenol, a close relative of aspirin.

Aspirin acts in 15 to 30 minutes. The action may be speeded a bit by powdering the tablet between two spoons and washing the powder down with a half glass of hot water, a cup of tea or coffee (to get the additional caffeine effect of the "doctor's prescription") or a drink of a carbonated beverage (to get effectiveness).

The aspirin effect is not intensified by combining it with drugs like phenacetin or salol.

Aspirin does cause occasional stomach irritation; hence it is best to avoid it in patients known to have ulcers. But, even so, the irritation may be reduced greatly by preparing the stomach with a preliminary cup of hot water, soup or milk and by washing the powdered tablet down with more warm fluid.

If a buffering action is desired, a half teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda may be mixed with the powder. Or the combination may be washed down with a glass of club soda.

Since aspirin is mainly used to relieve pain and reduce fever, its use should be discontinued as soon as it has accomplished its purpose. And, if the pain or fever fails to respond to three or four doses, you'd better call your doctor for then the causative disturbance may require more expert attention than you can provide yourself.

"Really, Aren't You Ashamed of Yourself?"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

A prediction of business upturn made last March 6 by Dr. Walter Heller, chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers, seems to be coming true. And administration planners are hailing this as about the only good news there is in a naughty world.

WHAT HELLER SAID in his highly qualified statement before the Congressional Economic Committee was that, "an upturn may be in the making in the next few months, but it will be just the beginning of the end of the recession."

Announcement that Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial production rose from 102 in March to 105 in April is the first robin which the economic bird watchers are hailing to prove that spring recovery is at least around the corner. Other harbingers are a lengthened work week and slight drop in unemployment.

This is a slower recovery than after the 1954 and 1958 recessions, but the 1960 recession was milder.

It is conceded around Washington that this recovery would have come anyway, even if there had been no change in administration last January. The 1960 decline is described as an inventory adjustment, and in time it corrected itself.

The recession bottomed out, or reached its trough as the economists now say, in late February-early March. But no one is saying that Kennedy administration economic policies have been responsible for the rise since then.

There haven't been enough Kennedy economic policies put into effect and not enough time has elapsed to see what their impact will be.

The extension of unemployment insurance payments and the temporary relief measures may have accentuated the recovery a little, for the turn has come earlier than expected.

THE ADMINISTRATION has not revised its earlier estimates of pumping about $3 billion more government money into the economy during its first year. But that is not a great deal in terms of a $500 billion-a-year gross national product.

So there is still some question of how vigorous the coming recovery is going to be, and what's going to happen to gross national product and unemployment rates.

In the first year after the 1958 recession trough, there was a 10 per cent increase in the gross national product. There is some doubt that the 1961 recovery will be that big.

The most optimistic estimate now — and it is emphasized this is not a prediction — is for an 8.5 per cent increase by the second quarter of 1962, at the end of the first year after the February-March trough.

This would put the gross national product rate at $545 billion a year. But the discouraging aspect of this is that it would still leave the unemployment rate at about the present level of 6.5 per cent of the labor force. The reason given is that new workers will be coming into the market for jobs faster than they can be absorbed.

WHAT SEEMS TO BE both the administration's planners more than anything else is an economic gap. Not the missile gap, but an economic gap. This is the great amount of unused productive capacity in the country.

It is estimated at about 10 per cent, or with a gross national product rate of $500 billion a year in the first quarter of 1961 — about $50 billion. In other words, gross national product could be at a $550 billion annual rate today if industry were operating at an optimum 95 per cent of capacity. And unemployment would be reduced to 4 per cent.

The direction of the Kennedy economic planning for the long haul is apparently going to be aimed at encouraging a faster growth rate to obtain these desirable ends. But the means by which they are to be achieved are still by no means clear for they have not yet been approved by Congress.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

TUCSON, May 21 — The population of Arizona has risen more than 70 per cent in the last 10 years. The Tucson Gas, Electric Light and Power Company reports that one day's production of electricity last Aug. 2 was more than the average monthly output in 1936. Like the midwest in 1900, with Germans and Scandinavians, Irish, Italians and Poles storming into the emptiness of the prairie, this southwestern region is feeling a strange stir of might.

There is not enough white paper in the world to contain the story of the Indians.

They are here, they have great virtues and they have been victims of many wrongs, but the only proposal looking to "improvement" and redress would obliterate them by de-Indianizing them. That is the word the Great White Father used to describe a brutal experiment in a school at Chillicothe, Okla., which imposed iron discipline on Indian children taken far from their families.

They marched in formations, and for mass punishment of trivial individual offenses, whole classes had to stand at attention so rigidly and so long that some of them fainted and were let lie where they fell.

The Indians are Indians still. The Mexicans, or Spaniards, as some of them prefer to be called, have intermarried with Caucasians and though they, too, are set a little apart from the Caucasians by their complexion, commingling is in progress. These dark peoples are developing political force and identity. Lyndon Johnson cut loose from Texas by calling himself a southwestern American in the 1960 campaign. This was foresight on his part, for the Nordic majority of a rather sparse Texas population is losing dominance and politicians are cultivating the dark people.

The Arizona color line is much less than demarcation elsewhere so Negroes in Arizona are much happier in this phase of life than Chicago or New York Negroes. Acrimonious New York agitators tried their wiles tentatively and subsided because they found no hateful situation to exploit. There is a strangely amiable society in which elements mix with remarkably little asperity or even rivalry.

Politically, Arizona is no longer a Democratic state, although the Udall brothers, Stewart and Mo, Secretary of the Interior and Congressman-elect, are Democrats of radical quality. The Democrats just barely didn't beat Mac Matheson, the Republican who ran against Mo Udall in a special election for the seat Stewart Udall vacated to go to Interior. And the old situation that consolidated Arizona into the solid South is emphatically past. Senator Barry Goldwater is the individual most responsible for this revolution. He

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 22 — Maybe the less said about the Cuban "invasion" fiasco the better. But when Sen. Gore of Tennessee, Democrat, blames the failure on the joint chiefs of staff and openly urges that they be replaced, then the subject can hardly be ignored.

Perhaps if the British or Canadian parliamentary system were in operation in the United States today, there also would be suggestions that President Kennedy himself be replaced or at least subjected to the customary vote of "confidence" or "no confidence."

It should be noted that Sen. Gore made his comment after listening to a substantial part of the three hours of testimony given to a subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last Friday by Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, head of the joint chiefs. Since this testimony was secret, the public has no way of judging whether Sen. Gore's interpretation is justified. Other senators who heard the testimony disagree emphatically with the Tennessee senator's verdict.

Where is the press left in these circumstances, and how is the country to know the whole truth? For obviously, while Gen. Lemnitzer answered questions frankly and listening senators are convinced he gave them truthful answers, it was obvious to them there were many things that he was not privileged to discuss.

Dulles Testified
Also Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, previously had given the Senate committee his explanation of the affair. This, too, was secret, and the press still has no way of judging just who was or was not responsible for what happened in Cuba.

How then can the public make up its own mind? Recently there have been suggestions from President Kennedy that perhaps there should be censorship of the voluntary kind for the press. But is it the duty of the press to tell the people when top-ranking officials in government, including the President himself, have made some serious mistakes?

A member of Congress familiar with the facts, but himself not a participant, sums it all up with this remark: "It was a case of cumulative stupidity."

Unprecedented Case
This correspondent would

point out, however, that it was a case of an unprecedented nature for which neither the President nor the Congress has had occasion heretofore to delegate or fix responsibility.

For it was, outwardly at least, an operation carried out by Cubans as participants. Americans acted as advisers. The CIA helped to plan the project. The joint chiefs were asked their opinion beforehand and gave it. But while the theory was all right and the plan might really have succeeded but for some hard luck at the last moment the failure wouldn't have occurred if it had been a strictly United States military operation. It came so near success anyway that it is easy now to blame this or that circumstance. And, of course, hindsight is always better than foresight.

One important factor has not been fully explained. An American aircraft carrier was 10 miles away from the landing point. At a crucial moment American air support was needed. It had been promised. When it was called for by the Cubans, it didn't materialize. Was this because of faulty communication between the Cuban expedition and Washington? Was there a lapse of several hours while civilian advisers of the President, who argued against the operation, caused him to hesitate and ultimately to decline to authorize air support?

All Academic Now
It's all academic now, but it does seem as if the President might have looked at the plan more penetratingly himself in the first instance. Maybe he relied on the military staff here to pick flaws in it for him, and they didn't feel qualified to pass judgement on what the Cubans were doing and what the C. I. A. was doing.

It's a kind of situation that is new to the American government, especially since, on the one hand, it was strictly a Cuban affair, and, on the other, it was so against the interest of the United States that it seems tragic the decision wasn't made either to go all-out with air support and everything else or stay out altogether. That's perhaps hindsight, too.

It would be unfortunate to start looking for scapegoats. Significantly, Sen. Morse, chairman of the Senate subcommittee which heard Gen. Lemnitzer's testimony, said afterward to reporters that the general had given helpful testimony, and added:

"I have complete confidence in the joint chiefs of staff and their ability to protect the security of the country in connection with any military matter over which they have complete jurisdiction."

Hesitancy and Forbearance
Reading between the lines, this is but another way of emphasizing the real point of the controversy—namely, that the Cuban invasion was not a strictly military affair which our own military men planned and executed. It was a mixture of civilian hesitancy—due to a fear of public opinion in Latin America—and forbearance by the military chiefs, who were never given full responsibility for the project.

So, after all, maybe the less said about it the better, and maybe President Kennedy, who is studying now, through Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, retired, the best way hereafter to carry on such operations in the "cold war," will come up with an answer. For the communists are constantly engaged in plotting such enterprises on their side all over the world, especially inside many a country in Latin America.

—Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard, America's first man in space.

Communism can't be shut down in Latin America. It must be shown up. This should be an object of our policy. But when a resort to arms was taken in Cuba, then the error was compounded by allowing a corporal's guard to attempt an army's work.
—Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho).

Seek More Funds To Take Lecture Program in June

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The State Division of Military and Naval Affairs, which claims a duty to keep the public informed, wants to lecture New Yorkers on the dangers of Communism.

Col. Joseph T. Willey, operations officer, said the division would ask the Legislature for funds to take over a lecture program the Militia Association will begin next month.

The Militia Association, a society of officers in the state's military forces, will hold a seminar June 24 in Syracuse for its members. Plans call for later participation by civilians.

The association's program is sanctioned by the division, Willey said. Lecturers and information on Communism is being provided by American Strategy Inc., an anti-Communist organization, he said Saturday.

Maj. Gen. A. C. O'Hara, commanding general of the New York Army National Guard and Gov. Rockefeller's chief of staff, said at a briefing session for newsmen:

"We of the Division of Military and Naval Affairs feel that a large portion of the responsibilities of leadership in the state rests squarely on our shoulders if we are to assist in the development of a more informed public who will be alert to this (Communist) menace."

Lt. Col. G. E. Hartel, a retired Army intelligence officer who now represents American Strategy, said weekend strategy seminars will be held throughout the state.

Form Committee On Youth Fitness; 50 Participate

A New Paltz organizational youth fitness committee was formed recently when a joint meeting of the P-T-A's took place at the Central School. About fifty interested citizens attended and participated in a program featuring a talk by Dr. Lloyd O. Appleton, associate director of the Department of Physical Education at the United States Military Academy, West Point.

Dr. Appleton stressed the need for family activities that would assist youth in proper growth and development. Family togetherness would create an atmosphere conducive to the best possible adult-child relationship he stated.

Dr. Appleton, members of the panel, and the audience stressed the need for programs that would realistically meet the problems of youth. There was a consensus of opinion that adult guidance was an absolute necessity for the attainment of the positive purposes in the lives of our youth.

The audience decided to continue its active interest in youth fitness by forming an organizational committee, specifically for youth fitness problems, and the organization of a community program.

Members of the temporary committee are Merrill Archard, Mrs. Pauline Binniger, Raymond Buckley, Mrs. Sheila Otis, Louis Priven, Dr. William Pugliese, William Russell, Dr. Jeremiah Sachs, Frank Tantillo, Joseph Walker, Mrs. Charles Wolbers. This committee plans to hold their first meeting in the near future.

More Than 100 Paltz Students In Festival Meet

Over 100 Junior-Senior High School Students from New Paltz Central School participated in the competition-festival program held at Middletown recently.

The competition-festival program is sponsored annually by New York State School Music Association to provide students the opportunity to perform for evaluation purposes before highly qualified judges.

Student soloists, ensembles and concert organizations compete, if they so desire, for a rating, or they may go on a festival basis. Students taking part on a festival basis receive the benefit of the judges comments, but do not get marked for their performance.

New Paltz students and organizations receiving graded ratings were: Band III-B, Senior Chorus IV-A, Martha Sherwig—flute solo, IV-A; Judy Beatty, alto sax, III-B. Students and groups taking part on a festival basis were: S. Houze, Irva Beatty, and the High School Girls Ensemble.

Ratings for organizations are based on the following: A—Excellent Performance; B—Good Performance; C—Fair Performance; D—Poor Performance.

Grades of Difficulty—Grade I—New Organizations and beginners; Grade II—Small Schools; Grade III—Medium Enrollment Schools; Grade IV—Fairly Large Schools; Grade V—Large Schools; Grade VI—Symphonic Groups—High Selective.

Directors participating from the New Paltz School were: Mildred Bond, Paul Steiner, and Robert Breary.

G.O.P. Chairman Plans to Resign At Poughkeepsie

Resignation of Poughkeepsie Republican City Chairman William V. Welch is expected to be submitted at a committee session Thursday. Welch has held the position for nearly 14 years.

Welch has decided to resign the position because he does not have sufficient time to do the job as it should be done. He is attorney to the Dutchess County board of supervisors.

At present County Commissioner of Elections Robert E. Stevens, a two-time Republican mayor of Poughkeepsie, appears to be the likely successor to Mr. Welch.

Mr. Welch has considered resigning several times but has been prevailed upon by friends to continue in office. He will remain a member of the committee from the Third Ward, his former home ward. He now lives at 5 Daniels Court, in the Seventh Ward.

Police Are Asked To Help Find Missing Teener

Local police were asked Saturday to assist in the attempt to locate a 15-year-old East Meredith boy, who has been missing from home since Friday, and who had apparently stopped here.

He is Douglas Earl Briggs, who was reported to be of stocky build, has blond hair, blue eyes and a light complexion. He is five feet, seven inches tall, 140 pounds, and wore a gray sports jacket, white shirt, and dark trousers.

It was noted that he might be headed for Florida, and that he had mailed a postcard to a friend from Kingston. He has been known to work in gas stations, police were told. His father talked to Lt. Charles A. Hoehing here Saturday.

Federal Aid to

gress, on its schedule this week. Senate backers of the school aid bill were able to defeat all five attempts to amend it in four days of debate last week.

Pending as the Senate meets today is a proposal of Sen. Prescott Bush, R-Conn., to bar any federal grants to racially segregated schools.

This is given little chance, however, because even the strong civil rights advocates among the bill's supporters have agreed to fight such amendments. They fear that adoption of such a rider would probably kill the bill.

In fact, the measure's sponsors welcomed the amendment. They believe its defeat would comfort Southern legislators whose votes are needed for final passage of the legislation, particularly in the House.

Local Jaycees Win State Honors

CHARLES A. RICE

The Saugerties Jaycees tied for fourth place among 139 local chapters throughout New York State in the annual ranking competition.

In addition, the local chapter walked off with five first-place awards in the scrapbook competition. These awards included the Giessemer award to the local with the best all-around external and internal programs; the public affairs award; the public relations award; and two special awards for the project Operation Survival. The Saugerties Jaycees were judged best in this category among the locals in Division 2 (communities of 9,000 to 15,000 population) and best among all locals in the state conducting the Operation Survival project.

In addition to the chapter awards, State Membership Chairman George Turner was recognized as the outstanding internal project chairman. The awards were presented to the Saugerties local at the Jaycees' national convention meeting, Jamestown. The meeting was highlighted by the election of new officers to the New York State Jaycees, Saugerties Past Local President Charles Rice was successful in his bid for the office of national director.

Five other Jaycees elected to this position were Richard Keehn of Rochester, Edward Schein of White Plains, Carl Isley of Watkins Glen, R. Heiney of Binghamton, and Charles Young of Oswego. Young and Rice each received the unanimous support of every local in the state.

Curtis Bauer of Jamestown defeated Joseph Bruno of Glens Falls for the state presidency. Warren Potash of Buffalo defeated Ray Howland of Elmira for the office of internal vice president. Taylor Powell of Lewiston defeated Roger Edkin of Oneida for the office of external vice president. Jim Mulcare of Schenectady was unopposed in his successful bid for the office of international director.

The men comprise the executive officers in the New York State Jaycees for the year 1961-1962.

Bauer, the new state president succeeds Donald Lawson of Saugerties. Lawson has been the prime force behind the development of the Saugerties Jaycees in the state organization. For its size no other local in New York State has provided so many leaders to the state organization. During the five years of its existence, the Saugerties local has provided the state organization with four state chairmen, six regional vice presidents, one internal vice president, one president, and now one national director.

Debaters Place Third in Finale

Almost overshadowed by the Model United Nations undertaking, Saugerties varsity debaters finished third in the Hudson Valley Round Robin Debate Finale at Arlington Thursday. Ronald Smith and Patricia Sasso paced the Sawyers with three wins and a loss. Patricia Mayone and Pamela LaPlante represented Saugerties on the negative side.

First place and the Bar Association sweepstakes trophy were captured by Arlington. Poughkeepsie finished second. The third place finish completed the Sawyer season with laurels in all three Eastern New York tournaments. The Blue and White while completing its fifth consecutive winning season were less successful when competing for state honors against Western and New York City schools. They were first in the Mohawk-Hudson Capital District Regional, second in the Eastern New York tourney at Poughkeepsie, and third in the Mid-Hudson finale.

The debate tourney and the Model UN also completed the eight year coaching post for Malcolm Bump. Since becoming members of the National Forensic League in 1955, Saugerties Varsity and Junior Varsity squads have won 692 debates against 513 losses. Bump became a National Forensic League Diamond Key Coach in April and ranks fourth in New York State. Bump will teach history at Hendrick Hudson High School, Montrose, in 1961-62. He has also been designated New York State representative to the 1962 Speech Association topic selection committee.

Ultrasonics Field Offers Big Growth But Some Risk

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "Would you kindly discuss ultrasonics? I understand there are speculative growth possibilities in this field. Would you name a promising stock?"—J. G. A) The field you ask about — ultrasonics, or "silent sound" — seems definitely headed for major industry status.

During and after the last war, much research was done on powerful yet inaudible sounds. New properties of these ultra-high pitched tones have been discovered and are now being applied in ways which really test the imagination. Here are a few: cleaning metal parts, welding, washing dishes and drilling holes (even square ones) in brittle metals.

There are a number of companies competing for profits in this fast-growing field. Competition is getting hot, but I believe the potential market is large enough to provide for plenty of expansion on the company level.

Lacks Evidence In Kidnap Case

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A sheriff's detective says there is insufficient evidence to jail three waiters allegedly involved in a plot two years ago to kidnap two of Elizabeth Taylor's children.

"So far all we have is the word of one conspirator," detective Jerry Brown said Saturday. "There is absolutely no corroborating evidence."

One of the waiters told Sheriff Ralph Lamb that a car smashup prevented the trio from carrying out the kidnap plan. The informant feared that the other two men planned a new kidnap attempt during the current visit of Miss Taylor and her husband, singer Eddie Fisher.

Brown said the plot was to kidnap the youngsters while Miss Taylor was living in Las Vegas in 1959. At that time, Fisher was completing his residence requirements for a Nevada divorce from actress Debbie Reynolds.

Miss Taylor and Fisher issued this statement: "We don't understand how these three men are walking around free even after we were told by the FBI and the sheriff's office that one of them has confessed."

The waiters were not identified.

You must realize that high risk is common when investing in young fields such as ultrasonics. Because of this factor, I think you might do well to buy Gulton (ASE). This company has a good stake in ultrasonics, but it is also solidly represented in other science fields. Gulton is extremely well-diversified, and I favor it for growth.

Q) "My broker cautioned me recently on buying shares of a stock because of the existing 'thin market.' What does he mean?" — D. C.

A) He was referring to a limited supply of shares available for trading in a particular stock. This usually occurs where capitalization is very small or where large blocks of stock are closely held.

The result of thin markets is often exaggerated swings in price — both upside and downside — when anything more than a nominal amount of stock is traded. Over the past two years, we have seen fantastic gains made by stocks with a rather thin market.

This factor works both ways, of course, as many people found to their sorrow in the case of Farrington. Over the past 15 months, the latter stock went from 16½ to 57½ and then fell back to 16½.

NEW YORK (AP)—Wooling is more intense this spring in that triangle—industry, science and education.

Industry is spending more in recruiting likely skills with many top companies saying that the mild recession dampened their ardor not one whit. Universities confirm that the added interest in the burgeoning nuclear and space age and in science in general has made seniors in technical fields more sought after than ever.

Close Link With Colleges

Many companies are working more closely with colleges in outlining and underwriting studies in fields that industry is entering and in putting more cash into their own post college training programs.

And many firms are looking carefully at nearby education facilities before locating their research laboratories or specialized plants.

A General Electric official says that his company is increasing education facilities within the company and that more such facilities in nearby colleges and universities are being made available to GE technicians.

A Jersey Standard Oil official says although the petroleum industry may have "oil running out of its ears" right now, "We need chemists and chemical engineers and physicists and mathematicians all the time, and expect to continue this need indefinitely."

Demands for Grads Excellent

Schools reporting to Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. in Minneapolis that the demand for their engineering and scientific grads is excellent and often better than a year ago include: University of Technology, Michigan; University of Pennsylvania, Georgia Institute of Technology, University of Minnesota, University of Washington, University of California at Los Angeles.

Scott Hall, manager of engineering services recruiting for GE says "The current swing is toward electrical engineers and solid state physicists."

New specialties develop. He mentions bionics, the science of adapting nature's processes to engineering.

"In many cases," he adds, "GE plants have developed their own educational courses or made special arrangements with neighboring colleges and universities to produce the kind of education needed for technical people."

Industry Branching Out

Hill thinks this is why the electronics industry has settled plants near highly regarded educational institutions in the Boston, Los Angeles, and San Francisco Bay areas.

The need for more scientists in the oil industry has not been cramped by the current excess of production facilities over demand.

David A. Shepard, an executive vice president of Jersey Standard Oil, says "The industry is branching out into many technical fields. He notes that 'oil companies currently are building or expanding around 50 petrochemical plants' and will go on breaking into new markets with new products."

"Our scientists are devoting a great deal of time to fundamental research," Shepard says, but "even the research scientist has to be aware of the economic stakes involved." He says the need is for "more, not fewer people with a taste for new ideas and with solid economic sense."

All of which may be why each year many companies pay higher starting salaries and provide additional training to improve the skills of men and women in many varied fields of specialization.

Dangerous Plaything

Not long ago, a four-year old boy playing with matches started a fire. He died in the blaze. So did his mother and five other children.

Of course, nobody lets children play with matches. But it is difficult for even the most cautious parent to realize how curious a child is about everything, how imitative, and how fascinated by a flame.

Don't kid yourself that even the littlest toddler doesn't know how to strike a match. If a child has seen you do it, he knows how.

If at all possible, don't leave matches around where a child can get to them—mother's handbag, the pocket of dad's jacket, a shelf a child can reach by standing on a chair. This would be ideal.

However, the ideal cannot always be reached. If you can't keep matches out of a child's

Is Not Necessary

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE) says "It is the consensus of the organized newspaper groups and wire services that no censorship of any kind is imperative at the moment."

Felix R. McKnight, executive editor of the Dallas Times Herald, made this report to the Texas Associated Press Managing Editors Association Sunday.

McKnight and other newspaper executives recently discussed with President Kennedy the President's comments about publication of classified information.

"Kennedy challenged the American press with the responsibility of protecting the national security. The American Press has accepted this challenge and will perform in the best interests of the country," McKnight said.

Dutchess Girl
Injured in Fall
From Her Horse

A 12-year-old girl in the town of Wappinger, Dutchess county, fell from a horse Saturday for the second time within three months.

Jean M. Frascati, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frascati of Osborne Hill road, was admitted to Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, for observation and treatment. She reportedly suffered a head injury in the fall near her home.

Hospital authorities, who Saturday night reported her condition as good, said she was discharged on Sunday.

The girl was hurt March 5 in a similar mishap. On that occasion she was also admitted to the hospital for X-rays and treatment.

ARMY BAND TO PLAY—The 30-member Salvation Army Band and Songsters of Paterson, N. J., will play in the Kingston-Saugerties area during the weekend of May 27-28 as part of the celebration of National Salvation Army Week, May 22-28.

The Salvation Army Citadel Band and Songsters will perform in Ulster County May 27 and 28 as part of National Salvation Army Week. It was announced today by Maj. Foster J. Meitrott of the Kingston unit.

Salvation Army
Band Is Coming
For Special Week

The 30-member band under the direction of Kenneth Siddle, bandmaster, and Richard Schotter, songster director, will both sing and play.

It will present a concert at the Old Dutch Church at 8 p. m. Saturday and take part in the drive-in services at 8:45 a. m. and the morning worship at the sanctuary at 11 a. m. The band will present a concert at Saugerties Central High School at 3 p. m. Sunday and at the Salvation Army building, 94 North Front Street, at 6:45 p. m.

Meitrott said today that the band is a fine balance combination which has no counterpart in American brass band circles and that its ensemble playing can handle with equal facility reverent chorals, majestic oratorios, or dashing and brilliant fantasias and marches.

Members of the band hold other positions, he said, but give of their time "to play for the honor and glory of God through the services of the Salvation Army Band and Songsters."

The band, which hails from Paterson, N. J., is led by Siddle, a mechanical engineer employed by the Federal Paper Board Company, Bogota, N. J., and Schotter, a senior mechanical engineer with the Westinghouse Electric Corp., Metuchen, N. J.

Other top members are George Hyatt, male chorus director, who plays an E flat soprano cornet, who is an officer in the Hanover Band, New York; Walter Dix, band secretary, who plays a double B flat tuba, an employee of the International Telephone and Telegraph Laboratories, where he is manager of employee services; William Lundsten, band librarian, B flat solo cornet, employed by the National YMCA, and Lawrence Robertson, deputy

Methodists Reject Request
In Red China U.N. Dispute

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—The Troy Conference of the Methodist Church has declined to reaffirm a previous call for better understanding between Red China and the United States.

The conference also rejected a resolution urging continued opposition to the admission of Red China to the United Nations.

The delegates did, however, approve a resolution stating that the conference stand "in no way committing the membership of the local Methodist churches of the Troy conference."

The Board of Social Christian Concerns, which brought the issue to the floor Saturday, turned down a request from the First Methodist Church of Rensselaer that the conference rescind the stand of previous years.

A resolution submitted by the board asking the conference to reaffirm its position was tabled by the delegates.

In 1959 and 1960, the conference said it favored a better relationship between the United States and Red China, but stopped short of urging recognition of the Communist regime or its admission to the U.N.

Individual churches protested that stand.

Sunday, at the final session of the conference's five-day annual meeting, Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke announced Pastoral appointments and transfers.

Heading the list was formal announcement of the appointment of the Rev. Lawrence Larroze, pastor of First Methodist Church in Plattsburgh, as superintendent of the conference's Troy District. The bishop previously had announced his intention to appoint the Rev. Mr. Larroze to succeed the Rev. Terrence F. Ogden, who becomes an associate pastor at Trinity Methodist Church, Albany.

Bishop Wicke reappointed three other superintendents. The Rev. C. W. Kessler of the Albany District; The Rev. E. N. Haley of the Burlington, Vt., District; and handmaster, solo euphonium, employed in national headquarters of the Salvation Army, New York City.

The Rev. H. F. Govey of the Glens Falls District.

The new pastoral appointments and transfers by districts:

Is your family's financial security program as up-to-date as your family? Find out with a FAMILY SECURITY CHECK-UP

Every father knows that his family's needs change from year to year. Perhaps there's a new baby...or a new house...or a teen-ager thinking of college. These are just some of the reasons why every father should have a thorough review of his family's security program regularly—whether he needs insurance or not.

What you could lose without one

There are mistakes, oversights, gaps in the average man's financial security program. Too much of it is haphazard. Too much of it is left to chance. It lacks a plan. Or, too often, it simply falls behind the times.

For example, the Social Security law has been changed nine times since its inception. And the Social Security benefits your wife and children could get may not dovetail efficiently with your pension or insurance programs. Then too—you can unintentionally "disinherit" a child, in effect, if you have overlooked naming him among your beneficiaries.

More than an interview—a service

Metropolitan, the Company you look to for authoritative information on physical health, offers a way to check up on your family's financial health.

We The Women Great-Grandma Would Be Way Out of Step Today

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Great-grandmother was a wonderful woman in her day and she got full credit for it. But how would she fare if she were living today? Why, the experts would have a regular field day with great-grandma.

Great-grandma put her family first and was proud of it. Today she would be accused of not looking "beyond her own four walls."

Great-grandma stuffed her family with wonderfully rich and soul-satisfying meals. Today the psychiatrists would tell her she was stuffing her family with food to make up for a lack of love.

Great-grandma was a homebody. Today she would be told she was shirking her civic responsibilities.

Great-grandma washed her kids' mouths out with soap when they used naughty words. Today the experts would call her down Walker.

Kindergarten Registration In OCS District on June 3

Kindergarten registration for next September in the Ontario Central Schools District will be held on Saturday, June 3 at six locations, Ronald P. Vanni, director of Elementary education, has announced.

The places and time for registration follow:
Woodstock elementary school, 9 a. m. to 12 noon; Olive Library, West Shokan, 10 a. m. to 12 noon; parish hall, Phoenixia, 10 a. m. to 12 noon; West Hurley elementary school, 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.; American Legion Hall, Ashokan, 1 p. m. to 3 p. m.; Mt. Tremper school, 1 p. m. to 3 p. m.

Letters will be mailed during the week of May 22 informing parents of the registration location for their child. In each case the child will be registered at the building he will attend in September. Newcomers to the district may call the Bennett school, Boiceville, to determine the building at which their children should be registered.

In order to be eligible for kindergarten, 1961, a child must be five years old on or before January 1, 1962. Proof of the child's birth date in the form of a birth or baptismal certificate and records of vaccination and immunization should be presented when the child is registered.

Set New Policies

Several new policies are being instituted in the registration procedures this year. Registration is being held in all buildings housing kindergartners so the children may see their new classrooms, meet their teachers and experiment with the school equipment.

The teacher, school nurse and principal will be available in each building to answer questions and discuss the school program.

Physical examinations will not be given on registration day. Parents are encouraged, instead, to take their child to their family physician who knows the child's health background and history and who will be better able to provide a more complete examination. Forms for the family doctors to report the examination will be provided on registration day.

The 1961-62 edition of the district's Kindergarten Booklet will be distributed. The booklet, revised yearly by staff members, contains information of interest to parents of kindergarten children and will serve as a handy reference throughout the year.

Those who cannot attend the registration on June 3rd may register the child during the week of June 5-9 between the hours of 9:00 a. m.-4:00 p. m. in the office at:

The Bennett School, Boiceville.
The West Hurley School, West Hurley.
The Woodstock School, Woodstock.

OCS Students in Law Day Project

Students of Business Law and Consumer Economics at the Ontario Central School participated in Law Day activities arranged by their teacher, Ronald A. Koster.

Included in the activities for the day was a visit to the Ulster County Jail and the criminal investigation office of the sheriff's department. This part of the trip conducted by Sheriff Claude Bell, was more than interesting. Several students were quite amazed when they realized that being in jail isn't much of a social affair.

Chief Clerk Clifford Van Valkenburgh, of the county clerk's office was most helpful, informative as well as entertaining in explaining the type of records on file in his office. He explained procedures for filing and finding information and told several interesting stories dug from the ancient records under his jurisdiction.

The final phase of the trip was conducted by Ulster County District Attorney Corwin. At the courthouse he explained court procedures, including the grand jury procedures in handing up indictments. During a tour of the grand jury room and the courtroom Mr. Corwin also explained court jurisdictions in New York State.

ASK THE DESIGNER

by gaile dugas

Dear Gaile: I'm getting a bit weary of the mink stole as an evening wrap. But the climate when I live makes a summer wrap of some sort essential. Most of my evening clothes are the short length and many of them have wide skirts. My husband and I do a great deal of entertaining and we are entertained in return. Would you please suggest a wrap other than mink that would look right with my present evening dresses? Mrs. H. H. D.

Dear Mrs. H. H. D.: Indeed you do need an evening wrap that provides some warmth in that cool California climate. A lined silk stole might be one answer; the silk could be another if the skirts of your dresses are not too wide. But the ideal solution, I think, comes from that great American designer, Norman Norell. This is what he advises:

"I feel that a small fur wrap is right for the clothes you describe. But it should be absolutely straight rather than shaped over the shoulders. I think you should consider sable, the cut short and straight like a little towel."

Dear Gaile: My hair is turning gray. (I am a widow in my early fifties.) I rather like it and think I will probably keep it that way. But I am a little puzzled about color. I can't continue to wear the colors I've always worn as a brunette. And I certainly don't want to wear those awful sticky pastels. Have you any special advice for me? Mrs. L. T.

Dear Mrs. L. T.: This is the time for you to blossom out, to experiment. I have talked your question over with designer Richard Cole. He says: "Pale turquoise and apricot both would be lovely; neither is 'sticky'. But you might also consider the really clear blues, the sweetened reds, paisley in a green tone, a really brightened navy and a clear, silver gray."

"For fall, try pumpkin, orange and espresso brown. Do stay clear of the black, navy blue and dull gray trap. Garnet or emerald jewelry would be beautiful with your silvery hair. To get the full effect of any one color you would like to wear, try on a hat in that exact shade. This will tell you if it is right with your skin and hair."

Please send your fashion problems to Gaile Dugas in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column. All rights reserved. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

to two clubs. South was off the hook and he passed gladly, but North put him back on the hook with a further take out double of East's two club bid.

South wanted to pass this bid and let East romp in two clubs.

but South was a good partner and knew that it was up to him to bid.

A two spade call was the least of the evils facing him and needless to say South was really unhappy when North jumped right to game.

Usually the pessimism of a player with a hand like South's is fully realized in the final result and this time would have been no exception if East and West had been looking into South's hand, but they weren't and everything turned out for the best.

East overlooked his partner's queen of clubs with the king and continued with the ace and jack. South ruffed with the jack of spades; drew trumps with four leads; and ran off five diamond tricks to make his contract.

Detectives' Complaint

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Who pays for a plain clothesman's plain clothes? The police department does, but New Haven detectives wish it would pay a little more. The current budget allows $25 a year for each man's clothing. Uniformed policemen get their working clothes free.

Will Terrify Shark

WASHINGTON (AP)—A "bubble curtain" — used to discourage sharks from ocean beach areas—will not stop the tiger shark, a group of scientists said Sunday.

The "bubble curtain" is created by pumping air through a perforated pipe or hose on the bottom of the water area. The theory is that it will terrify the sharks and they will not swim through the bubbles.

A report rejecting this idea was issued Sunday by the American Institute of Biological Sciences, the American Museum of Natural History, the Office of Naval Research and Cornell University.

Among the scientists participating was Dr. Perry W. Gilbert, Cornell Zoologist.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Has marriage changed Jimmy Durante? No, I'm happy to report. He is still the same suave, lovable, gregarious self.

"I ain't changed none," he commented over breakfast. "I still do the same things I used to. The only difference now is I got me two houses. Two houses! I must be outa my mind!"

When Jimmy married his long-time girlfriend Marge Little last December, he had a house and she had a house. Hers was a spanking modern up in the hills, his was a tie-roof traditional in the heart of Beverly Hills. They still have them, his and hers, each with a swimming pool.

"It's the only thing we argue about," Jimmy lamented. "She don't wanna move outa her place. I can't move all my junk up dere. What am I goin' to do with all the plaques, all the photographs I got? I got no place to put 'em."

So far it's a standoff. Every morning Jimmy leaves the hilltop home for the 10-minute drive to the Beverly Drive house. The maid serves him breakfast and he conducts business from the house. After a day of appointments and rehearsals, he returns to the home on the hill.

Sometimes I come down here for a shower," Jimmy related. "That makes Marge mad. Why can't you take one here?" she sez. I happen to like the shower in this house. I'm used to it."

Jimmy was in town briefly before leaving for a date at Harrah's Lake Tahoe. He has been traveling during most of his marriage thus far. He was on a night club tour and went to Italy for a cameo role in an Italian film, "The Last Judgment."

"Marge went to Italy with me and to New York and Miami," he said. "But the rest of the time she stays home. What's she gonna do in Cincinnati?" And besides, when she's not here, that means we got two houses empty. Ridiculous!"

Jimmy was surprised to find himself recognized wherever he went in Italy. "An I ain't made a film in eight-nine years," he said. "The movie-making was quite an experience."

"I just worked free days in the pit," he said. "I play a guy who goes around sayin' the world's goin' to come to an end."

"The director is this guy (Vittorio) Dusa. An' he's great. The only trouble was everybody else was talkin' Italian. So there was a minute wait between when they finished their lines and I realized it was time for mine."

Jimmy's experience with Italian food put him in the hospital here for a checkup. "The food is great, but I can't take it no more," he said sadly.

He was breakfasting on a pill, prune juice, boiled eggs, toast and tea. That would suffice until dinner, Marge sez. A good cook, he said, but she gets little chance to

Eichmann Assists Prosecutors at Israeli Session

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP)—Adolf Eichmann is helping his Israeli prosecutors by calling their attention to gaps in the parade of documents submitted against him.

The Israeli prosecution, accusing Eichmann with primary responsibility in the Nazi pogrom of Europe's Jews, has presented 800 exhibits so far, some of them containing multiple documents.

Eichmann, bald and saturnine at 39, has kept a running account of them all in his glass-enclosed desk.

But trial sources disclosed the defendant has not been satisfied with the presentation of papers drawn from the Gestapo's files.

He has been sending his own written notes through his counsel to the prosecution, insisting on having documents we do not have," a prosecution source said.

We have gotten them lately, almost every day. When we check back we find he is right and something is missing. Then we check what is missing and most often find a document he would be far better off had it been forgotten. In a curious way he is helping us keep our own files in order."

display her ability. His dinner is a small steak or piece of chicken. Cornflakes at bedtime round out his frugal diet.

Despite this he keeps going at full energy through the day and into the night. Even during breakfast, he answered a succession of phone calls. One of them was from Marge up on the hill.

"She sez, 'Git rid of da house,'" Jimmy reported.

Indians, Cubs Score Wins in NLL Openers

Shults Paint Indians white-washed the VFW Pirates, 7-0, and the Callahan Cubs nipped the Canfield Electric Braves, 10-9, in opening games of the Kingston National Little League season Saturday at Shults stadium.

Steve Bates hurled a four-hitter for the Indians. His mates collected only two safeties but ten walks aided them in the decision. Jerry Longendyke had three of the losers' four safeties, all singles.

The Braves scored twice in the top of the seventh but the Cubs came back to score three runs and squeak by in their wild and woolly affair.

Jerry Lindsay and Barry Lindsay shared pitching chores for the winners while Wayne Corcoran and Tom Saripaugh opposed them.

Catcher Ray Lindhorst had a double and two singles for the Cubs while Frank Stapleton doubled for the Braves. Prior to the doubleheader, opening day ceremonies took place. Joe Kelly, city editor of the Kingston Freeman, was master of ceremonies. Mayor Edwin F. Radel represented the city and fourth ward alderman Larry Woerner and supervisor Joe Turck also spoke. Representing the ladies auxiliary was Mrs. Josephine Primo.

Guest speaker was Ed Palladino of the Freeman Sports Staff. He told parents to lend a helping hand to Little League baseball because without the support of the adults, Little League baseball will cease to function as well as it does now. The line scores:

Muhlich Sets Losers Down After A Rocky Start

Pushing five runs across the dish in a wild fifth inning, Onteora Central shocked Saugerties, 9-8, in a baseball contest Saturday at Dietz stadium.

The Indians, who now have a 2-8 mark on the season, trailed by an 8-4 margin starting the fifth and Mike Fury, Saugerties starter, looked like a winner.

Joe DiGiovanni began the inning by drawing a walk and Bob Pleasant's puffed a double. Coach Bill Straub then dickered Fury in starter of Billy Eckhoff. He couldn't get anybody out.

A single by Len Muhlich, a double by Dick Bartsch and Jay Gordon's walk, coupled with three wild pitches, finished Eckhoff and Fury had to be summoned to close out the inning. He had gone to third base.

The Sawyers, who had only nine players in uniform, tallied early off Muhlich getting runs in the first and then in the third, fourth and fifth. The right-hander settled down in the final two innings and finished with a flourish, striking out the side in the seventh.

Saugerties had won five straight during the week and has a 10-4 record.

Van Leuvan Wins At Rhinebeck SW

Johnny Van Leuvan of Poughkeepsie was a three-time winner in stock car racing at Rhinebeck Speedway Saturday night. He won his qualifying heat, the semi-final race and the 30-lap feature.

Van Leuvan was followed to the checker by Carleton Hughes, Hoppy Jensen, Carl Fink, Terry Zimmerman, Al Ostrander, Barry Tipp, Paul Dickinger, Ben Stone and Gordon Cavanaugh.

Bob Snyder of Kingston and Gen Gootermote of Troy were removed from the track after they had plowed through the third turn fence on the third lap. A flurry of wads followed and track officials ordered them out of the race.

Gorry Hall of Kingston won the feature event for sedans, after Wild Walt Wasowski of Hyde Park piled into a crash wall with four other cars getting involved in the fracas. Hall grabbed the lead at the re-start and held it to the finish. Ike Houghtaling, Al Elliott and Bob Ajar chased him across the wire.

The summaries:

Fastest Field In '500' History

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Thirty-two American auto racing veterans and British road racing champion Jack Brabham will make up the fastest field ever lined up in the 50-year-old 500-mile auto race May 30.

A record qualifying average of 145.302 miles an hour was set in two weekends of qualifying that ended Sunday.

Last year's Memorial Day field set the previous record of 144.070 and 18 of its starters would not have made the program for this year's golden anniversary race.

Eight newcomers, including Brabham, helped boost the average for the 10-mile tests. Eddie Sachs of Center Valley, Pa., who has failed to finish in four Memorial Day starts, was the fastest qualifier of the two weekends with a 147.251 on opening day, good for $2,200 and the No. 1 starting position a week from Tuesday.

Detroit defeated Kansas City 5-3 in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was postponed until tonight because of rain. Chicago's White Sox nipped Boston 6-5 in 10 innings of their first game. The Red Sox came back with a 6-2 and 7-2 sweep from Los Angeles. New York moved into third place, past Minnesota, dividing a doubleheader with Baltimore. The Yankees won the opener 4-2 and the Orioles the second game 3-2.

The five hits made by Minnesota were only two more than the fewest made by an American League club in a doubleheader. The Indians collected 28 in the twin bill, six by Johnny Temple, who took over the league's batting lead with .360. The only thing Minnesota fans had to cheer about was Lennie Green, who hit safely in each game to extend his hitting streak through 18 games.

Steve Boros, rookie third baseman, drove in four Detroit runs with a single, double and home run to help Larry win his seventh game in eight decisions. Kansas City southpaw Bud Daley lost his fifth.

Whitey Ford, helped by Roger Maris' fourth home run in as many games, and seventh of the season, won his fifth game for the Yankees in the opener against Baltimore. Steve Barber, Baltimore southpaw, helped win his own game with a two-run single in the seventh after Yankee receiver John Blanchard dropped Gene Stephens' two-out foul pop.

Art Schwall, a 23-year-old, 6-6 right-hander summoned from Seattle, made his major league debut by winning one as he pitched the Red Sox to a 4-1 triumph over the White Sox. Gary Genger's two-run homer and a couple of sparkling catches featured the Red Sox victory. The White Sox won the opener on Jim Landis' two-run homer in the 10th inning.

Washington jumped from eighth to sixth with its double triumph over Los Angeles. Willie Tasby's two-run double broke a 2-2 tie in the opener and Chuck Hinton drove in four runs in the second game with two singles and his first major league home run. Dale Long, Billy Klaus and Tasby homered for the Senators in the second game. Right-hander Bennie Daniels and left-hander Hal Woodeshick posted the victories.

Rebels, Chicks Win 'Y' Softball Games

Bob Kent pitched the Rebels to a 9-0 win over the Yankees and the Chicks outscored the Astronauts, 10-5, in YMCA Softball league games Saturday at the Smith Avenue athletic field.

The Rebels and Chicks are tied with 2-1 marks while the Yankees and Astronauts have 1-2 records.

Koufax Halts NL Leaders as 41,495 Watch

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers won their third straight from San Francisco Sunday, 3-2, and moved into a virtual first place tie with the Giants in the National League pennant race.

St. Louis, led by Stan Musial, who drove in five runs with a home run, double and single, snapped a six-game losing streak, sweeping a pair from Chicago 6-3 and 3-0.

Pittsburgh watched Philadelphia score nine runs in the third inning, then came back to defeat the Phillies 13-11, as Don Hoak drove in five runs, the last two with a bases-loaded single in the ninth.

Cincinnati nipped Milwaukee 7-6 on pinch hitter Gus Bell's ninth inning double, then lost the second game 3-2 when Vada Pinson was nipped at the plate in the ninth inning.

A home crowd of 41,495 saw the Giants drop their third straight one-run decision to the Dodgers. Sandy Koufax held the Giants to four hits for his fourth victory. Los Angeles got only seven off lower Billy Lee but two of them were home runs—by Johnny Roseboro and Jim Gilliam—accounting for all the runs in the fifth.

The Phillies scored nine runs in the third but the Pirates struck back, finally tying the score 9-9 on Don Hoak's three-run homer in the sixth. It was 11-11 in the ninth when Hoak singled with the bases loaded to drive in the winning runs. Pittsburgh used seven pitchers and the Phils made five errors to give the Pirates seven unearned runs.

Henry Aaron slammed a two-run homer, his sixth of the season, to give the Braves their split with Cincinnati. The Reds won the opener in the ninth when Eddie Kasko singled and scored on a double by pinch hitter Gus Bell. Cincinnati almost pulled out the second game in the ninth. They made it 3-2 on Gene Freese's homer to knock out starter Carl Willey.

Relief pitcher Claude Raymond yielded singles to Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson but Pinson was nipped at the plate.

Yallum's Kings Take 2nd Straight City Win

Mike Amato pitched a 4-hitter and collected two hits, as Yallum's Kings nipped Hilltop Rest, 4-3, for their second straight victory in the City Softball League Sunday.

In the other game, Anchorage Rest drubbed Nadler Motors, 10 to 2, behind the five-hit pitching of Mike Boyle, who collected a double and two singles among the 14 Anchorage safeties off W. C. Lindsey.

Yallum's were outbatted by Hilltop, 6-4, as George Norton went the distance. Joe Tremper slammed a home run for the winners and Dick Lasher collected three singles for Hilltop.

Anchorage hit Lindsey, the strikeout artist, freely and scored in six straight turns at bat. By the end of the second they were ahead, 6-2. Rod Whittaker powered a double and homer for Anchorage. Cliff Schwark and Jay Bertha had a single and double apiece and Ted Beland two singles.

Fireworks Cause Arrest of Men At Ellenville

Two arrests were made by Ellenville state police Saturday night for possession of firecrackers.

Troopers Michael Mahoney and Edward Whalen were cruising in front of the Ship's Galley, Accord, Saturday evening when they observed a youth apparently preparing to shoot some firecrackers.

They arrested Harold Williams, 19, of Accord.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Abram Smith, entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in jail (suspended).

A little later Joseph Hildebrand, 23, of Nanaucho, was picked up by the troopers on a charge of possession of firecrackers.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Frank Muller and fined $10.

Reapportionment

Democratic Committee victory dinner that he doesn't think New York "can any longer afford a governor who considers the job as nothing more than a convenient stepping-stone for running for the presidency.

Lindsay, speaking at the state Young Republican convention in Saratoga Springs, said Rockefeller had led the state in a program of achievement in important areas of education and health. The Young Republicans passed resolutions praising Rockefeller and the Legislature, and re-elected officers.

Also praising the Republican governor was Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson. He said Rockefeller had aided local governments in increasing state financial assistance for urban renewal projects. Wilson spoke at the 30th anniversary dinner of the North State Improvement League in Watertown Saturday.

But Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast said Rockefeller was employing "power plays" in the hunt for a Republican candidate to run this fall for mayor of New York City.

In Jamestown, meanwhile, Republican National Chairman Thurston B. Morton asked President Kennedy to assert strong leadership to halt Soviet and Red Chinese imperialism.

"The time for words is past," Morton told a Republican dinner. "The time for decisiveness, strength and sound stands and moves has come."

Prendergast, in a statement issued Saturday in New York City, said "Rockefeller's futile attempts to fashion a fusion ticket out of Republican confusion in New York City have further lowered the all-time low status of the Republican Party."

5 Fire Officials Quit Their Posts Have No Comment

An internal conflict which has resulted in the resignation of the fire chief and four fire officers of the Highland Fire Department was still unresolved this morning.

When queried by The Freeman, Chairman Royal C. Reed of the Highland Board of Fire Commissioners, replied, "I got no comments for nothing."

Those resigning were Chief Frank Tortorella, Deputy Chief John Mandy, Assistant Chief Henry Stellar, Captain Michael Mandy and First Lieutenant Philip Collins.

Reed and Tortorella confirmed the resignations, however.

According to Reed, the commissioners are taking over in the absence of the officers.

Rumor has it that the conflict concerns a dispute between the officers and the board over attendance of volunteers at fires. It was reported unofficially that the fire officers feel if a man misses 10 fires a year he should lose his active status.

Only One Injured In Three Weekend Mishaps Reported

Nine persons were involved in three weekend traffic mishaps reported by Kingston state police. Only one injury was reported, a two-year-old girl, who was treated at the hospital and released, and one driver was fined $10 for failure to keep right.

In a two-car collision at Glasco Four Corners 7:15 p. m. Saturday, Theresa Forte suffered head injuries, was treated at Benedictine Hospital and released.

Joseph Forte, 33, father of the child, and a member of the military band at West Point was driving one car with his wife, Theresa Forte, 32, of 16 Deyo Street, Kingston, as passenger.

Mrs. Josephine Sagendorf, 39, of 168 TenBroeck Avenue, driving the other vehicle, a 1959 sedan, was proceeding south on Route 32 at Glasco Four Corners when in collision with the Forte 1953 sedan traveling west on Glasco Turnpike. No other injuries were reported, according to Trooper T. J. Morrissey.

No one was reported injured in a one-car mishap 7:45 p. m. Sunday on the Dave Elliott Road, west of Kings Highway, Asbury, reported by Trooper Richard Ryan.

Irving Dean Jr., 24, of Uniondale, driving a 1957 sedan owned by Irving Dean Sr., was arrested for failure to keep right. He paid a $10 fine before Saugerties Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers.

The Dean vehicle with Harry Dean, 18, of Malden, as passenger was traveling east on the Dave Elliott Road, when the car went off the north side of the road into a ditch and rolled over, troopers said. The car was described by troopers as a total loss.

No one was reported injured in another mishap Sunday at 11:20 p. m., on Route 32 near the intersection of the southbound entrance to the Thruway at Saugerties, troopers reported. A 1953 sedan, operated by Schork Tashjian, 56, of Lexington, Greene County was proceeding south on Route 32, turned left to enter the Thruway, and was in collision with a 1956 sedan operated by Ronald Skrypee, 26, of Meriden, Conn. The Skrypee vehicle was traveling north on Route 32. Both cars were damaged on the front end, according to Trooper Richard Ryan.

According to estimates, more than 65 per cent of the more than 118,885,000 motor vehicles registered in the world are in the United States.
